DELAYING CHRISTMAS HOPEFULLY — Sharon Warren, wife of Sgt. John A. Warren, says she and her son, John Jr., 18 months, are "going to hold Christmas off a couple of days" in the hope that her husband will come home to Richmond, Ohio, from Vietnam. A body identified as Warren was shipped to the family November 5, but the family said it was not Warren. The Army is probing the claim of a "mixup."

Ohio High Court Voids Confinement In Lieu Of Fines

By DAVID QUEEN
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio Supreme Court ruling which struck down a law requiring prisoners who cannot pay court fines to spend compensating time in jail has left one judge "as dubious as thunder" and prompted another to predict "interesting problems." The court ruled Wednesday that "the provision requiring a defendant to work off court costs by confinement is ... unconstitutional in that the credit sum of $3 per day for working off unpaid fines and costs is grossly unreasonable."

The court said the law, as applied in misdemeanor cases to an indigent defendant who has served the maximum sentence authorized, violates the equal protection guarantee of the 14th amendment of the Constitution. "I am as dubious as thunder," said Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Kenneth Sater about the decision.

"Just think, with all those drunks, how are you going to prove they are indigent. That's one for the books."

Judge Sater predicted that so many accused people would claim indigency that the court clerks would lose a major source of income. Sater said if a man claims he's poor and can't pay, "how am I to know different? And under the court ruling, we apparently can't send the man to jail either."

Franklin County Municipal Court Clerk Ted Hysell said, however, he did not think the lost revenue would amount to much.

Columbus Municipal Court Judge Bruce Jenkins said "It may produce some interesting problems. From a practical standpoint, it isn't fair to make a man stay in jail many days if he can't pay."

Jenkins added that the high court will have to interpret the ruling further to make the application uniform throughout the state.

The court ruling overturned a decision by the Hamilton County Court of Appeals in the case of Walter Stratman of Cincinnati. He had been sentenced to six months in jail and $500 in costs for making a false report to police. Because he could not pay the $500 the court ordered him to spend one additional day in jail for every $3 unpaid.

Details of the case are confidential. But in general the allegations involve sales of club property such as furniture and the charging of long distance telephone calls and gasoline purchases in the United States to the club.

Gilligan Says He's In Race For Governor

Ex-Senatorial Candidate Throws Hat In Ring

ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

CINCINNATI (AP) — Former congressman John J. Gilligan of Cincinnati announced today his candidacy in the May primary for the Democratic nomination for governor.

The announcement had been rumored often in recent weeks. The 48-year-old Gilligan, an insurance man, joins Robert E. Hagan, a Trumbull county commissioner, and Robert Sweeney, a former congressman-at-large, in the Democratic gubernatorial field.

Gilligan served six terms in the Cincinnati council from 1953 to 1964. In 1964 he was elected to the U. S. House of Representatives from the 1st Ohio district but was defeated two years later by Rep. Robert Taft Jr. Taft now is a candidate for the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator.

Two years ago Gilligan ran for the U. S. Senate and in the Democratic primary upset then Sen. Frank J. Lausche. He was beaten in the fall election, however, by Republican William B. Saxby by a 115,000-vote margin.

A native of Cincinnati, Gilligan was graduated from Xavier University and obtained his Master's degree at Notre Dame. He taught literature at Xavier from 1948 to 1953 and then was associated with his brothers in Gilligan Funeral Homes until he entered the insurance business.

He is the father of two sons and two daughters.

School Funds Are Ordered Suspended

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A panel of three federal judges has ordered the Georgia Board of Education to terminate state funds to school districts which have not filed desegregation plans by March 1970.

The far-reaching decision Wednesday also:

—Defines an integrated school system as one in which 75 per cent of all pupils of a minority race are enrolled in integrated facilities.

—Requires the state board, with the assistance of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), to process and review all school desegregation plans in the state before April 1, 1970.

—Directs the state board, in cases where desegregation plans are not in compliance with court standards, to insure compliance by May 1, 1970.

—Orders each of the desegregation plans fully implemented by Sept. 1, 1970.

The decision was believed to be the first in the nation placing the responsibility for school desegregation at the state level. In the past, such action has been directed at local boards with the possible cutoff of federal school funds used as the prime method of enforcement.

It also marked the first time a federal court has designated specific standards for school desegregation.

School District Eyes Changed Building Use
LONDON, Ohio (AP)—Officials of the widespread Madison Plains School District are studying a plan to discontinue a high school at Mt. Sterling and bring all secondary students to the Madison South High School on Ohio 38 seven miles south of here.

The proposal calls for extension of the Madison South building facilities with perhaps a bond issue for the May election.

Nixon Tells Solons; Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says his fight against inflation is in danger but could be rescued if Congress forgets "the cost in political popularity" and cuts down federal spending.

"At stake is nothing less than the future of the American economy," Nixon said in a Dutch-uncle letter sent to House and Senate leaders Wednesday.

The President said his $192.9 billion federal spending ceiling is threatened by $6 billion in rising costs that are beyond his control and added millions dictated by congressional action—and inaction.

The letter, timed to coincide with Congress' efforts to pass a tax reform bill and complete action on appropriation measures for the current fiscal year, also said:

"The responsible path toward protecting the buying power of the consumer's dollar is clear. But the Congress has not appeared willing to take that path."

The keynote of Nixon's 1,200-

word message was responsibility.

Nixon coupled his plea for responsibility with a new attack on the tax reform bill, now before a conference committee for long hours each day in an effort to compromise the Senate and House versions.

"The Congress appears to be well on its way to substituting tax reduction for tax reform," he said. "This will harm rather than help the average taxpayer."

"A tax cut for some citizens would mean a rise in prices for every citizen."

"Inflation—the hole in everybody's pocket—is the most unfair tax of all," he said.

Despite the fact that a combination of congressional action and inaction "would load an additional $5 billion onto an already overheated economy," Nixon said, "recent Senate tax actions ... would, if approved, actually take $1.6 billion away from revenues."

Work On Compromise Tax Reform Bill Nearly Done

WASHINGTON (AP) — Provisions worth about $8.5 billion in either increased benefits or tax cuts appear certain to be missing from the tax reform bill that finally emerges from a House-Senate conference committee.

The 14-member committee has finished most of its work on the measures' reform provisions and hopes to complete action on the rest of the bill by tonight.

In an effort to compromise the differences between the House and Senate versions, and head off a threatened presidential veto, the conferees apparently are set to delete at least nine provisions from the Senate bill while compromising other additions passed by that chamber.

However the apparently doomed provisions do not include the proposal to increase the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800. Although opposed by the Nixon administration, this is expected to remain in the bill, probably in reduced and postponed terms, in view of strong support in the House.

Some other provisions enjoy considerable support, but apparently are condemned because of their cost. Even some of their supporters have acknowledged privately they did not expect to see them enacted. They count the favorable Senate votes, however, as a gain that could help advance the proposals in future years.

Among the Senate provisions for which conferees are sharpening their shears are:

—An annual tax credit up to $325 for college expenses. It would cost $1.8 billion a year.

—Full deductions for medical expenses of persons over 65, costing $325 million.

—Deductions by handicapped persons for special cost of getting to work, $90 million.

—A special increase to $100 of the minimum Social Security monthly payment—in addition to the 15 per cent general increase which appears sure of approval. The extra feature would cost $2 billion.

Nixon has said he would veto a bill that provided a 15 per cent boost in Social Security benefits and a $200 increase in the personal exemption.

—A $7.50 a month increase in welfare payments; $150 million.

—Continuation of the investment credit for the first $20,000 of annual investment by a company; $720 million, and continuation of the credit for investments in depressed areas; $70 million.

—Authority for the President to impose import quotas on foreign commodities if they injure U.S. industries and come from countries that discriminate against U.S. goods. President Nixon has said he does not want such power.

Congress Works To Finish Action On Big Money Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress drove today to finish the year's appropriations business while waiting for a compromise on taxes and Social Security that holds the key to whether the lengthy session can end this Saturday.

Conferees on the tax reform bill, which contains a 15 per cent Social Security benefit increase, hope to reach agreement on the complex measure by tonight.

The Senate, meanwhile, worked to complete action on the last of the year's 13 regular money bills—foreign aid—plus a final catch-all supplemental measure.

The House dealt with the steady stream of measures coming out of various conference committees.

President Nixon, who has demanded that Congress finish all of the appropriations bills or face a past-Christmas special session, fired off a letter to congressional leaders urging a determined effort to hold down federal spending and maintain tax revenues "no matter what the cost in political popularity."

Clinton Air Base Meeting Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP) — A joint meeting at Clinton County Air Force Base in Ohio between federal and state officials to discuss the feasibility of converting the base into a civilian, regional jet airport, will be held Jan. 12, Rep. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens announced Wednesday.

Lukens, Middletown, Ohio, said the meeting will involve representatives of the Department of Defense, Air Force, Federal Aviation Agency and a special committee of the Ohio Legislature assigned to investigate the proposal for a regional airport.

There were these appropriations actions Wednesday:

—The Senate passed 88-4 a $21.4 billion money bill for the Departments of Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare after watering down a House provision to restrict federal school desegregation powers. The bill, some $4 billion more than the House voted, went to conference.

—Then, working into the night, the Senate passed 80-1 and sent to conference a $6.77 billion money bill for the Department of Transportation after rejecting 58-22 a proposal to knock out $80 million for the Superferry Transport—SST—project.

—Senate-House conferees, meanwhile, agreed on a $69.8 billion defense appropriations bill including a Senate provision to bar funds for U.S. ground troops in Laos or Thailand.

—Another Senate-House conference committee agreed on a $1.97 billion, two-year foreign aid authorization bill that excludes two controversial items, $32.5 million for jet planes for Formosa and $50 million for South Korea.

Mystery Plane Traverses Arch

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A mystery aircraft, the second in less than a week to accomplish the feat, flew through the St. Louis Gateway arch Wednesday night.

Witnesses said the twin-engine aircraft displayed no lights and no serial numbers were visible.

The plane approached from the west, flew through the 630-foot-tall stainless steel arch and departed toward the north.

An airplane made a similar flight last Friday.

Food Stamp Changes Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin set up an unveiling today for an expansion of the food stamp program that would enable needy families to buy more while paying less.

Details on the food stamp plan have been expected since Dec. 1, when Hardin announced proposals for bringing down the cost of stamps to needy families while enlarging benefits.

At that time, the secretary said the $610 million appropriated by Congress for the current fiscal year would enable the department to make "significant improvements" in the program. Three weeks ago, Hardin said that under the new arrangement a family of four would receive $106 in food stamps each month compared with the minimum now of $58 in coupons.

He said also that the amount a family must pay for its monthly stamp allotment "will be reduced as far as possible" within the law's present requirement that the monthly payment cannot be less than a family's normal food expenditure.

At present a family of four with a monthly income of less than $30 must pay $2 for food stamps worth $58 at retail grocery stores. The coupons are handled like cash and are redeemed by the federal government which makes up the difference as a subsidy to needy families.

Over Million On Both Sides Are Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in nine years of the Vietnam war will total more than 40,000 by Jan. 1 if the current rate continues.

The U.S. Command announced today that 85 Americans were killed in action last week, 15 less than the previous week. This raised the number of U.S. battlefield dead since Jan. 1, 1961 to 39,827.

For the past six weeks, the total of U.S. combat dead has averaged about 100, and there is no expectation that this will decrease substantially any time soon.

The U.S. Command also reported 836 Americans wounded in action last week, a sizeable increase over the 592 wounded the week before. A total of 261,256 Americans have now been wounded in the war.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 421 government troops were killed in action last week, 10 more than the week before, and 1,436 government troops were wounded.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties since Jan. 1, 1960, totals 97,541 killed and 216,128 wounded. The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands claimed 2,396 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, a slight drop from the previous week's revised toll of 2,450. The U.S. casualty summary said allied forces now have killed at least 582,378 enemy troops since Jan. 1, 1961.

These summaries add up to a total of 1,197,130 troops killed or wounded on both sides of the war since Jan. 1, 1960.

In the northern Mekong Delta, meanwhile, South Vietnamese infantrymen from the 9th Division clashed for the second day in a row with Viet Cong forces. This time the South Vietnamese reported killing 16 of the enemy 50 miles southwest of Saigon, with government casualties at three killed and four wounded.

The day before the Viet Cong ambushed a 9th Division battalion in the same region, killed 20 men and wounded 63. Two Viet Cong dead were claimed.

The U.S. Command reported 14 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night, but said casualties were light.

Addonizio Says He'll Continue Usual Business

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio pledged "business as usual" today despite his indictment by a federal grand jury probing alleged official corruption in New Jersey's largest city.

Demands for the ouster of Addonizio and of other officials indicted Wednesday on charges involving extortion and tax evasion drew this reply from Gov. Richard J. Hughes:

"New Jersey law does not authorize removal of a public official because he is under indictment."

Addonizio made it clear he had no intention of resigning.

The indictments allege extortion of $253,000 from the engineering firm of Constra, Inc., a contractor on various city projects, including sewer construction and urban renewal.

GOP Nearly Completes Sweep Of Federal Patronage

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Produced by complaints from patronage-starved Republicans last spring, the Nixon administration has made a fairly clean sweep of replacing Democrats with GOP appointees in policy jobs.

Of 2,150 confidential or political posts available, Presidential Assistant Harry Flemming said in an interview, 2,020, or 94 per cent, have been handed over to Republicans.

Nonetheless, dozens of holdovers from Democratic administrations remain. Some are in policy jobs, but most of them are below the "assistant secretary" level, mainly in assignments that tend to be handled by career government employees and seldom turnover with a change of administrations.

There have been some cries of foul from Democrats. Mostly they are complaints that office holders in supposedly safe career berths found their jobs "abolished"—and new posts created with Republican appointees.

One veteran Democratic hold-over observed, privately, that Republicans have acted no differently than did the Democrats when John F. Kennedy became president.

"In fact," he said, "the Republicans are a little slow about it, if anything."

"The guys who are complaining are usually the ones who wouldn't be in the government except for the same kind of pull."

Asked whether Nixon is satisfied that Republicans have taken effective control of the government machinery, White House Press Secretary Ronald Ziegler said:

"We are pleased with the progress. There are some exceptions, especially in agencies where reorganization plans are pending, but the major policy positions have been filled to our satisfaction."

A series of forceful moves has made recent headlines. Latest was President Nixon's firing Wednesday of Robert M. Morgenthau as U.S. attorney for the southern New York district. Nixon is nominating Republican lawyer Whitney North Seymour to replace Morgenthau, who was Democratic candidate for governor of New York in 1962.

A few days earlier Dr. Herbert L. Ley Jr. was ousted as commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration. Two of Ley's top aides also were removed by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Robert H. Finch.

Ley's replacement is Dr. Charles C. Edwards, a Republican, former surgeon, and official of the American Medical Association. The two aides were offered other jobs in HEW; one is taking the offer, the other is retiring.

Raymond H. Lapin, fired by President Nixon as president of the Federal National Mortgage Association, is putting up a battle.

Lapin, an appointee of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, is a Democrat in a post that will pay $85,000 a year when FNMA's transition is complete from a federal mortgage banking agency to a private corporation. But more than that juicy (Continued on Page 9)

Ohio High Court Voids Confinement In Lieu Of Fines

By DAVID QUEEN
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Ohio Supreme Court ruling which struck down a law requiring prisoners who cannot pay court fines to spend compensating time in jail has left one judge "as dubious as thunder" and prompted another to predict "interesting problems." The court ruled Wednesday that "the provision requiring a defendant to work off court costs by confinement is... unconstitutional in that the credit sum of $3 per day for working off unpaid fines and costs is grossly unreasonable."

The court said the law, as applied in misdemeanor cases to an indigent defendant who has served the maximum sentence authorized, violates the equal protection guarantee of the 14th amendment of the Constitution.

"I am as dubious as thunder," said Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Kenneth Sater about the decision.

"Just think, with all those drunks, how are you going to prove they are indigent. That's one for the books," Judge Sater predicted that so many accused people would claim indigency that the court clerk would lose a major source of income. Sater said if a man claims he's poor and can't pay, "how am I to know different? And under the court ruling, we apparently can't send the man to jail either."

Franklin County Municipal Court Clerk Ted Hysell said, however, he did not think the lost revenue would amount to much.

Columbus Municipal Court Judge Bruce Jenkins said "It may produce some interesting problems. From a practical standpoint, it isn't fair to make a man stay in jail many days if he can't pay."

Jenkins added that the high court will have to interpret the ruling further to make the application uniform throughout the state.

The court ruling overturned a decision by the Hamilton County Court of Appeals in the case of Walter Stratman of Cincinnati. He had been sentenced to six months in jail and $500 in costs for making a false report to police. Because he could not pay the $500 the court ordered him to spend one additional day in jail for every $3 unpaid.

Details of the case are confidential. But in general the allegations involve sales of club property such as furniture and the charging of long distance telephone calls and gasoline purchases in the United States to the club.

School Funds Are Ordered Suspended

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A panel of three federal judges has ordered the Georgia Board of Education to terminate state funds to school districts which have not filed desegregation plans by March 1970.

The far-reaching decision Wednesday also:

- Defines an integrated school system as one in which 75 per cent of all pupils of a minority race are enrolled in integrated facilities.
- Requires the state board, with the assistance of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), to process and review all school desegregation plans in the state before April 1, 1970.
- Directs the state board, in cases where desegregation plans are not in compliance with court standards, to insure compliance by May 1, 1970.
- Orders each of the desegregation plans fully implemented by Sept. 1, 1970.

The decision was believed to be the first in the nation placing the responsibility for school desegregation at the state level. In the past, such action has been directed at local boards with the possible cutoff of federal school funds used as the prime method of enforcement.

It also marked the first time a federal court has designated specific standards for school desegregation.

Drunk Drivers Become Target Of New Drive

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association and the National Safety Council are launching a joint nationwide campaign to teach drivers how much alcohol they can drink and still drive safely.

"For a long time we thought we could talk people out of drinking and driving," Howard Pyle, council president, told a news conference Wednesday. The new campaign takes what the council and the AMA believe is a more realistic approach.

Pyle said the campaign is designed to help individuals determine as nearly as possible their own "accident risk" factor so they know where their own danger level starts.

Dr. Richard S. Wilbur, assistant executive vice president of the AMA, said drivers should consider their weight and reaction to alcohol.

Witnesses said the twin-engine aircraft displayed no lights and no serial numbers were visible.

The plane approached from the west, flew through the 630-foot-tall stainless steel arch and departed toward the north.

Food Stamp Changes Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin set up an unvetting today for an expansion of the food stamp program that would enable needy families to buy more while paying less.

Details on the food stamp plan have been expected since Dec. 1, when Hardin announced proposals for bringing down the cost of stamps to needy families while enlarging benefits.

At that time, the secretary said the $610 million appropriated by Congress for the current fiscal year would enable the department to make "significant improvements" in the program.

Three weeks ago, Hardin said that under the new arrangement a family of four would receive $106 in food stamps each month compared with the minimum now of $58 in coupons.

He said also that the amount a family must pay for its monthly stamp allotment "will be reduced as far as possible" within the law's present requirement that the monthly payment cannot be less than a family's normal food expenditure.

At present a family of four with a monthly income of less than $30 must pay $2 for food stamps worth $58 at retail grocery stores. The coupons are handled like cash and are deemed by the federal government which makes up the difference as a subsidy to needy families.

Over Million On Both Sides Are Casualties

SAIGON (AP) — American battlefield deaths in nine years of the Vietnam war will total more than 40,000 by Jan. 1 if the current rate continues.

The U.S. Command announced today that 85 Americans were killed in action last week, 15 less than the previous week. This raised the number of U.S. battlefield dead since Jan. 1, 1961 to 39,827.

For the past six weeks, the total of U.S. combat dead has averaged about 100, and there is no expectation that this will decrease substantially any time soon.

The U.S. Command also reported 836 Americans wounded in action last week, a sizeable increase over the 592 wounded the week before. A total of 261,256 Americans have now been wounded in the war.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 421 government troops were killed in action last week, 10 more than the week before, and 1,436 government troops were wounded.

A spokesman said South Vietnamese casualties since Jan. 1, 1960: totals 97,341 killed and 216,128 wounded. The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands claimed 2,396 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed last week, a slight drop from the previous week's revised total of 2,450. The U.S. casualty summary said allied forces now have killed at least 582,378 enemy troops since Jan. 1, 1961.

These summaries add up to a total of 1,197,130 troops killed or wounded on both sides of the war since Jan. 1, 1960.

In the northern Mekong Delta, meanwhile, South Vietnamese infantrymen from the 9th Division clashed for the second day in a row with Viet Cong forces. This time the South Vietnamese reported killing 16 of the enemy 50 miles southwest of Saigon, with government casualties at three killed and four wounded.

The day before the Viet Cong ambushed a 9th Division battalion in the same region, killed 20 men and wounded 63. Two Viet Cong dead were claimed.

The U.S. Command reported 14 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night, but said casualties were light.

Addonizio Says He'll Continue Usual Business

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio pledged "business as usual" today despite his indictment by a federal grand jury probing alleged official corruption in New Jersey's largest city.

Demands for the ouster of Addonizio and of other officials indicted Wednesday on charges involving extortion and tax evasion drew this reply from Gov. Richard J. Hughes:

"New Jersey law does not authorize removal of a public official because he is under indictment."

Addonizio made it clear he had no intention of resigning.

The indictments allege extortion of $253,000 from the engineering firm of Constra, Inc., a contractor on various city projects, including sewer construction and urban renewal.

Montgomery Resigns From Berger Board

Board of Governors of Berger Hospital Wednesday night received the resignation of one of its members.

Dr. E. L. Montgomery, in submitting his resignation, said it was necessary for him to resign for personal reasons. The eye, ears, nose and throat specialist was first appointed to the board in 1962 by former Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

Dr. Montgomery's resignation was accepted with regret and a letter of appreciation was directed to be sent him for his services to the board and hospital.

Reports were heard from the Building and Finance Committees regarding long-range planning for the hospital. Henry Schroeder, building chairman, pointed out that his studies have not ruled out the possibility of an expansion of the existing facility. Harry Clifton Jr., finance chairman, said that current costs of building can be figured at $60,000 per bed.

As part of the long-range planning efforts, a report is expected at the January meeting listing hospital trust holdings that could be utilized for a building program.

Clifton, in making his regular monthly financial report, pointed out an increase of $12,000 in accounts receivable for the past month in addition to a drop of $22,000 in the operating fund.

Plans were also discussed for a "dry run" inspection for accreditation. The inspection is expected to be conducted in June of 1970.

Administration Sees Nation In Better Mood As '69 Ends

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, after taking a look at 1969, is doing a bit of back patting for what it says is a better mood in America at year's end.

It also has decided self-congratulations are in order for attempts at reforming the government and for shifting homefront priorities, all under the banner of "The New Federalism."

This developed during a briefing at which the White House turned up a trio of top officials to talk to some 20 reporters on domestic matters. The White House stipulated ground rules barred naming the officials or quoting them directly.

The theme seemed to be the administration has made progress in putting a new facade on government, although it isn't getting all it wants out of Congress and is having some troubles with a financial crunch.

There were other plusses and minuses.

In the plus column one or another of the three spokesmen put what they interpreted as:

A lowering of voices and a good deal less stridency in the national rhetoric—the whole war moratorium thing has run its course.

An attempt to make the government work better in such problem areas as taxes and the draft.

Steps to broaden the base for handling problems that involve more than one department or agency by creating councils on urban affairs, environmental quality control and rural affairs, to go along with the National Security Council in the field of defense and foreign policy—plus another Advisory Council on Executive Organization.

Additional questions have been raised, one official said, about the responsiveness of the government to such recognizable problems as population. Some of them require congressional action and the administration, the spokesman said, still is waiting for the fruit to drop off the trees in some areas.

One such area takes in measures to fulfill Nixon campaign promises to bring law and order to the land.

On the minus side, one spokesman conceded the obvious—that Senate rejection of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth, Jr. for the Supreme Court was a straight away defeat.

Another lamented that problems of welfare, education and unemployment still defy solution in times of unprecedented prosperity. He also said he would have to agree with a spokesman that some of the administration's stands on civil rights appeared to be heel dragging to black and other Ameri-

Stock List Has Rally

NEW YORK (AP) — A statement by Arthur F. Burns, nominee for chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, helped trigger a stock market rally this afternoon.

Burns told the Senate Banking Committee, which is considering his nomination as Federal Reserve Board chairman, that he very much hoped that the board "will reconsider its present policy when it gets more facts on the tax-reform bill and the new budget."

"Under normal circumstances," he added, "I would say the time has definitely come for some easing of credit conditions."

The Federal Reserve's monetary restrictions have been cited as the chief cause for the declining market.

Several analysts said the market was due for a technical rally since it was in such an over-sold condition and there remained so many bargains around.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, down nearly 2 points in earlier trading, gained 7.53 to 777.46 at noon.

Thirteen of the American Stock Exchange's 20 most-active issues moved ahead at noon, 5 declined, and 2 were unchanged.

Area Delegates Return From National NFO Confab

Pickaway county NFO delegates and members returned home from Louisville, Ky., last week following the largest and most successful national convention in the history of the National Farmers Organization.

Local delegates were Walter Rase and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark, Route 4; Joseph Carle, Route 2; Clyde Bandy, Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, Route 1; Mr. Sterling; Raymond Reiterman and Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Rivers, Route 3; Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hannawalt, Mr. Robert Barnes, Clyde Bidwell, John Diffendall, all of Route 1; Williamsport; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conrad, Don Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Overly, Route 1, New Holland.

A record 14,000 voting delegates attended two days of meetings, which charted the future agriculture and strengthened the position of the family type farm in Rural America.

It was the largest farm convention in American history. Delegates heard reports from various commodity department heads, calling attention to price increases being received by NFO members for their products through the NFO collective bargaining program.

Growth of the organization also was reflected by the reports of many new commodities added to the bargaining program.

"For the first time in the history of agriculture, a coordinated bargaining program in all 48 states of the Continental United States is operating or has the capability of operation, which makes the NFO structure a total collective bargaining structure," President Oren Lee Staley told members in his State of Affairs message.

Delegates were warned that the first two years of the 70's will decide whether the family type farms or corporate ventures will supply the nation's foods.

The NFO announced a "gigantic" organizational drive this winter, designed to contact every farmer who is not a member of the NFO and ask him to join."

Staley pointed out that rural business men also have a large stake in the battle for Rural America survival. "In a corporate agriculture structure, small business men will go down the drain along with the farmer."

Delegates were told that stepped-up bargaining efforts will be designed to secure more contracts and to improve the contracts the NFO already has in operation, and to secure added block bargaining.

The NFO still regards its holding actions of various farm commodities as a major factor in winning goals. Spot holding actions will be used as needed and now are in use on such products as grain sorghum, durum wheat and some other feed grains in various areas.

Staley, of Rea, Missouri, was re-elected national president and Erhard Pfingsten, Sergeant Bluff, Iowa, was renamed vice president.

Red Strength In Vietnam Said Well Above Estimates

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence misjudged enemy strength in South Vietnam last year by at least 68,000 men.

This conclusion is inescapable after comparing a new official estimate with an earlier calculation of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong manpower for the fall of 1968.

The Pentagon said Wednesday night "revised best estimates of enemy strength in South Vietnam during the fall of 1968 now indicate an enemy force of at least 290,000."

Checking back a rundown issued in early September estimated enemy manpower in South Vietnam as of Oct. 25, 1968 ranged between 207,000 and 222,000.

There was no immediate official explanation for the wide variance in the estimates. But it tends to underscore Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's reluctance to deal publicly in numbers.

It also casts doubt on the Pentagon's new "best estimate" that there were at least 240,000 of the enemy in South Vietnam this fall.

The Pentagon put out the new figures for autumn 1968 and autumn 1969 after Laird, under questioning by newsmen said Tuesday: "I would estimate that the range of enemy presence in Vietnam is in the neighborhood of at least 40,000 below last year."

In trying to avoid citing specific figures, Laird said "it's not an easy task" to estimate enemy troop strength.

He has preferred to talk in generalities about North Vietnamese infiltration of the South, saying there has been an increase within the past few weeks.

However, his apparent lack of confidence in figures raises questions about the validity of claims that infiltration has gone up or down in any given period.

Estimates of the extent of the enemy's presence in South Vietnam are made in large part following questioning of enemy prisoners, identification of enemy units in the battle area and analysis of captured documents, as well as from such sources as agents.

Also reconnaissance planes and certain types of sensors scattered along the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos give a reasonable picture of truck movements.

A 62-year-old Williamsport man was issued a citation by Highway Patrol Sgt. Wolfinger for driving left of center. His $10 fine was suspended.

Other motorists paid $139 in fines and forfeitures for speeding.

Having A Herd Of Reindeer Mostly A Pain, Man Claims

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP) — Owning a herd of 350 make believe reindeer is a gas at Christmas time.

You gild their antlers and form them into squadrons of eight. In each squadron you daub one's nose red and dub him Rudolph.

Then you watch the kiddies' eyes light up as the animals prance around at shopping centers, with Santa ho-ho-ing nearby.

But for the rest of the year, forget it, says Fritz Burns, a Los Angeles real estate man. All the deer do is eat and multiply.

The Burns herd grew from 26 milk white European fallow deer which he bought from the estate of the late publisher William Randolph Hearst in 1949.

Burns, now 70, installed the animals at his 400-acre ranch. Burns has eight, eight-deer teams on almost constant display in Southern California during the Christmas season. In the past, some have traveled as far as Vineland, N.J., and the Philippines.

Imelda Marcos, wife of Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos, wrote Burns last summer that children there believe in Santa Claus but think his reindeer are a myth.

Burns decorated a batch of eight and, after a sendoff from Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty on the steps of City Hall, had them flown to the islands as a gift to Filipino children from the city of Los Angeles.

Cult Chief Wants To Be Own Lawyer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson, facing trial on murder-conspiracy charges in seven slayings, wants to act as his own attorney.

The 35-year-old cult leader made the surprise request Wednesday to Superior Court Judge William B. Kenney, who said he would consider it.

Manson, bearded and long-haired, approached the bench with pad and pencil in hand and said, "Your honor, I am competent to stand and talk to you. I have the awareness to understand the charges against me and I have some knowledge of the law."

The soft-spoken defendant declared, "There is no way I can give up my own voice in this matter. If there is no way I can speak freely, it ties my hands and I might as well not have a defense."

Manson is charged along with four of his followers in the gun-shot slayings of actress

Sharon Tate and four other persons at her rented Benedict Canyon estate Aug. 9. Rosemary, a sixth member of the Manson "family," is charged in the slayings of the following only in the LaBianca killings.

There Are Many Blind In India

Having A Herd Of Reindeer Mostly A Pain, Man Claims

SAN FERNANDO, Calif. (AP) — Owning a herd of 350 make believe reindeer is a gas at Christmas time.

You gild their antlers and form them into squadrons of eight. In each squadron you daub one's nose red and dub him Rudolph.

Then you watch the kiddies' eyes light up as the animals prance around at shopping centers, with Santa ho-ho-ing nearby.

But for the rest of the year, forget it, says Fritz Burns, a Los Angeles real estate man. All the deer do is eat and multiply.

The Burns herd grew from 26 milk white European fallow deer which he bought from the estate of the late publisher William Randolph Hearst in 1949.

Burns, now 70, installed the animals at his 400-acre ranch.

Burns has eight, eight-deer teams on almost constant display in Southern California during the Christmas season. In the past, some have traveled as far as Vineland, N.J., and the Philippines.

Imelda Marcos, wife of Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos, wrote Burns last summer that children there believe in Santa Claus but think his reindeer are a myth.

Burns decorated a batch of eight and, after a sendoff from Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty on the steps of City Hall, had them flown to the islands as a gift to Filipino children from the city of Los Angeles.

Another batch went to the Nagoya Zoo in Japan, and eight were shipped to a home for mentally retarded children in New Jersey.

Burns still feels somewhat over-deer-ed and hopes to reduce his holding to 150 through further gifts to zoos and children's homes.

Cult Chief Wants To Be Own Lawyer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles M. Manson, facing trial on murder-conspiracy charges in seven slayings, wants to act as his own attorney.

The 35-year-old cult leader made the surprise request Wednesday to Superior Court Judge William B. Kenney, who said he would consider it.

Manson, bearded and long-haired, approached the bench with pad and pencil in hand and said, "Your honor, I am competent to stand and talk to you . . . I have the awareness to understand the charges against me and I have some knowledge of the law."

The soft-spoken defendant declared, "There is no way I can give up my own voice in this matter. If there is no way I can speak freely, it ties my hands and I might as well not have a defense."

Manson is charged along with four of his followers in the gun-shot-stabbing deaths of actress

Sharon Tate and four other persons at her rented Benedict Canyon estate Aug. 9.

All five also are accused in the knifing deaths the following night of wealthy Hollywood grocer Leno LaBianca and his wife, Rosemary, a sixth member of the Manson "family," is charged only in the LaBianca killings.

Senate Acts In Haste

After months of dawdling, the Senate suddenly has come alive on the tax reform measure. So lively it is in danger of pushing through some far-reaching reforms without giving much consideration to the consequences.

One of the more outstanding examples of precipitate legislating was the rider to the tax reform bill approved by the Senate 48-41, which would make major changes in Social Security. The first part of the rider, to raise Social Security benefits across-the-board by 15 per cent effective Jan. 1, merely recognizes the facts of inflation.

But the major change proposed by the rider would raise the minimum

Social Security payment from $55 to $100 a month for single persons and from $82.50 to $150 a month for couples. To finance the added cost, the Senate proposes an increase in the taxable wage base from $7,800 to $12,000 a year.

Thus, the rider approved by the Senate goes a long way toward changing Social Security from an old-age retirement plan to a welfare scheme.

The House Ways and Means Committee has been considering changes to Social Security separately from the tax reform bill. That is the more responsible approach.

Rackets On Credit

There should be no doubt that stolen credit cards have become big business with the underworld, after reading the testimony of a spokesman for the President's Committee on Consumer Interests to a Senate subcommittee.

Robert L. Mead testified that stolen cards now are eagerly being sought by organized racketeers, who sell them for as much as $100. Mead also reported the Post Office blames the mass mailing of credit cards for a 700 per cent increase in mail fraud cases in recent years.

Although he cautioned that any move to ban or restrict unsolicited credit cards would serve to remove competition from companies already well established in the credit card field, Mead's testimony nonetheless points in that direction.

When the organized underworld actively deals in stolen cards in large numbers, there should be demands from both the companies which use the cards and individuals whose names may appear upon them for federal action to stop the practice, however that can be accomplished.

John McCarroll tells an improbable story about a Phoenix, Ariz., friend's adventure with a rattlesnake. The friend, it seems, keeps a pet rattler in his bedroom to protect the valuables he has stashed away there. Recently an unwary burglar climbed through a back window and headed for the bureau where the valuables were kept. The rattlesnake coiled and struck, on target all the way, sank his fangs into the burglar's back, wrapped himself around a bedpost to hold the intruder, and stuck his tail out the window and rattled for the police.

The most improbable feature of this story is that the police showed up in a matter of minutes.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Both my mother, and sister had tubal pregnancies. What is the main reason for this and is there any hereditary tendency to it?

Mrs. E. A., Maine

Dear Mrs. A.: Tubal or ectopic pregnancy is one in which the female egg, fertilized by the male sperm, is caught and trapped in the tiny tube that leads to the womb.

The most common reason may be a narrowing of this Fallopian tube due to some previous infection or inflammation. A kinking or unusual curvature can prevent the passage of the fertilized egg into the uterus, its proper position.

There does not seem to be any hereditary tendency towards this condition. The likelihood is that coincidence played a greater role in your family.

Tubal pregnancies occur in about one out of 500 pregnancies and usually terminate about the third to fifth week.

All women should be under the care of a doctor from the very moment pregnancy is definitely established. In this way tubal pregnancy is recognized early and kept from developing complications.

Is surgery of the mastoid bone still performed and under what circumstances?

Mr. J. R. D., North Carolina

Dear Mr. D.: After the antibiotics and sulfa drugs were discovered and used extensively in ear infections, there was a marked reduction in the frequency of mastoid operations. Prior to this, infections of the middle ear extended into the mastoid bone and made surgery imperative and life-saving.

Such mastoid operations and their complications have virtually been eliminated by these miraculous drugs. Yet there are a great many other reasons why operations are still being performed on the mastoid.

Long-standing chronic discharging ears and perforations of the eardrums that are associated with deafness can, in many instances, be successfully helped by surgery. Repair of the eardrums with grafts and many other ingenious operations done under a microscope are performed on the mastoid bone in order to improve the hearing.

Today's mastoid surgery is just as common, but not for the same reasons as it was formerly done in children.

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The proposed Fannin Amendment to the Senate's tax reform bill, an amendment which would have removed the tax-exempt status of any organization that spends exempt income for political purposes, was defeated by a vote of 59-27, largely because the union lobbyists were unrelenting in their pressure against it. But it promises to be a costly victory for the big-time members of the labor hierarchy. The dubious logic of their position was apparent in all their arguments for exempting unions from the law which President George Meany of the AFL-CIO considers right for foundations and other private organizations.

The people behind the Fannin Amendment, notably the National Right to Work Committee, think they have given the labor hierarchy a proper scare and they are predicting that the "near-miss" of 1969 (they interpret it as that) will be transformed into the victory of 1971 or 1974. After all, they say, it was an incredible success merely to get the Fannin proposition to the floor for a debate that takes up some twenty pages of the Congressional Record. The Medicare and St. Lawrence Seaway issues, which eventually cleared Congress, didn't begin anywhere near as auspiciously.

To understand the glee of the Fannin supporters, one must look at what happened in the Senate before the final vote on the Amendment was taken. There were eight Senators — Smith of Maine, Sparkman, Allott, Spong, Cook, Long, Packwood and Talmadge — who signified their feeling that some limitation should be placed on the unions' right to spend their members' money on tax-exempt politicking. But they didn't want to go all the way with Fannin. Accordingly they lined up behind the Talmadge Amendment, a watered-down version of the Fannin Amendment. The Talmadge idea was to hit only at the union use of tax-exempt funds in federal elections. This would have allowed the unions to spend their members' money on State activity such as voter registration drives limited to getting out the union vote.

The Talmadge Amendment failed, and the eight who had championed it as a compromise then reversed their field and voted against the full Fannin proposition, which would have made no exceptions for union politicking with tax-exempt money of any kind. But if you add the eight Talmadge supporters to the twenty-seven who voted for the Fannin Amendment, it is apparent that thirty-five Senators are against letting the unions' COPE (or Committee on Political Education) ride high, wide and handsome in election years. And to the figure of thirty-five there must be added the four Senators — Goldwater, Dominick, Baker and Hruska — who were paired for the Fannin addition to the tax reform bill. When thirty-nine Senators show a willingness to risk the displeasure of the very powerful union lobby it is obvious that some kind of change in the political climate is already here.

It is significant that Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, a big beneficiary of union financial support, subsided into the background during the arguments over Fannin. Bayh, who had been so focal in charging Judge Haynsworth with "conflict of interest" in the fight over Supreme Court confirmation, let Senator Mondale of Minnesota carry the forensic ball for the unions. Mondale's voting record in the Senate gets a 100 per cent rating from the unions' COPE. During the give-and-take Mondale made the somewhat curious statement that he had "never received one dime as a campaign contribution." He went on to say, "I do not know anyone who has." Maybe he didn't get any union money personally, but the recording file clerk of the House lists donations of $25,583 to the District of Columbia Committee for Mondale from the Teamsters and other unions. Some twenty Senators are going into the 1970 election campaign year in dire need of COPE support. Human frailty being what it is, it would have been too much to ask of them to refrain from voting on the Fannin Amendment. But after 1970 some of them may be replaced by new Senators who will see things Fannin's way. Fannin will be back again with his proposition that it is wrong to use money politically that is collected from union shop members under compulsion. The Right to Work Committee even dares hope he will broaden his next bill to call for a prohibition on compulsory unionism in general.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A partial solution to the growing financial distress of the performing arts may be achieved by adopting business methods, one of the nation's largest financial institutions has concluded.

Recognizing that "artists may rue the thought," the Chase Manhattan Bank suggests that while the arts have concentrated on performance quality they have not paid enough attention to box-office innovation.

It suggests that since attendees at performances are likely to be repeat customers, special inducements should be extended to attract first-time customers, "as on the airlines."

And, since weekday performances are far less heavily attended than weekend offerings, the bank asks: "Why not add weekend performances and cut those early in the week or lower weekend and raise weekend prices?"

The popular assumption is that performing arts companies are in serious financial difficulties because of competition from radio and television and because wage and production costs have risen sharply, partly because of inflation.

To an extent, this appears to be true. A study of five symphony orchestras by McKinsey & Co., a management consulting firm, showed revenue from 1963-1964 to 1967-1968 rose 4 per cent, but costs jumped 59 per cent and deficits 97 per cent.

Spending for admissions to music, opera, dance and drama account for only two-thirds as much of the consumer budget as much of the money today goes to amateur rather than professional groups.

Commenting upon the limited audience size at the performing arts, the report suggested that greater efforts must be made to expand the size of audiences.

"The 20 million tickets sold to performances in 1963-1964, it is estimated, were bought by 5 million individuals, or 4 per cent of the adult population," the report stated, adding:

"A business which finds that a first customer becomes a repeat customer... reaches out with special inducements to attract first-time customers."

Even with better business methods, the report states, it is unlikely that the performing arts can be made self-sustaining. However, encouraging signs appear to be developing: "Foundations are beginning to develop the arts' fund-raising capability and to support innovative programs. Universities are becoming increasingly hospitable to artists... and government—local, state and federal—is helping..."

Senate Acts In Haste

After months of dawdling, the Senate suddenly has come alive on the tax reform measure. So lively it is in danger of pushing through some far-reaching reforms without giving much consideration to the consequences.

One of the more outstanding examples of precipitate legislating was the rider to the tax reform bill approved by the Senate 48-41, which would make major changes in Social Security. The first part of the rider, to raise Social Security benefits across-the-board by 15 per cent effective Jan. 1, merely recognizes the facts of inflation.

But the major change proposed by the rider would raise the minimum

Social Security payment from $55 to $100 a month for single persons and from $82.50 to $150 a month for couples. To finance the added cost, the Senate proposes an increase in the taxable wage base from $7,800 to $12,000 a year.

Thus, the rider approved by the Senate goes a long way toward changing Social Security from an old-age retirement plan to a welfare scheme.

The House Ways and Means Committee has been considering changes to Social Security separately from the tax reform bill. That is the more responsible approach.

Rackets On Credit

There should be no doubt that stolen credit cards have become big business with the underworld, after reading the testimony of a spokesman for the President's Committee on Consumer Interests to a Senate subcommittee.

Robert L. Mead testified that stolen cards now are eagerly being sought by organized racketeers, who sell them for as much as $100. Mead also reported the Post Office blames the mass mailing of credit cards for a 700 per cent increase in mail fraud cases in recent years.

Although he cautioned that any move to ban or restrict unsolicited credit cards would serve to remove competition from companies already well established in the credit card field, Mead's testimony nonetheless points in that direction.

When the organized underworld actively deals in stolen cards in large numbers, there should be demands from both the companies which use the cards and individuals whose names may appear upon them for federal action to stop the practice, however that can be accomplished.

Astrology dates to the Mesopotamian civilization about 5,000 years ago.

It is based on the theory that the movement of celestial bodies influences human affairs. A horoscope is a map of the heavens at the moment of a person's birth.

The horoscope is divided into 12 "houses" or "signs," and the sign of a person's birth supposedly determines his temperament.

There does not seem to be any hereditary tendency towards this condition. The likelihood is that coincidence played a greater role in your family.

Tubal pregnancies occur in about one out of 500 pregnancies and usually terminate about the third to fifth week.

All women should be under the care of a doctor from the very moment pregnancy is definitely established. In this way tubal pregnancy is recognized early and kept from developing complications.

Is surgery of the mastoid bone still performed and under what circumstances?

Mr. J. R. D., North Carolina

Dear Mr. D.: After the antibiotics and sulfa drugs were discovered and used extensively in ear infections, there was a marked reduction in the frequency of mastoid operations. Prior to this, infections of the middle ear extended into the mastoid bone and made surgery imperative and life-saving.

Such mastoid operations and their complications have virtually been eliminated by these miraculous drugs. Yet there are a great many other reasons why operations are still being performed on the mastoid.

Long-standing chronic discharging ears and perforations of the eardrums that are associated with deafness can, in many instances, be successfully helped by surgery. Repair of the eardrums with grafts and many other ingenious operations done under a microscope are performed on the mastoid bone in order to improve the hearing.

Today's mastoid surgery is just as common, but not for the same reasons as it was formerly done in children.

Fannin Scares Unions

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
The proposed Fannin Amendment to the Senate's tax reform bill, an amendment which would have removed the tax-exempt status of any organization that spends exempt income for political purposes, was defeated by a vote of 59-27, largely because the union lobbyists were unrelenting in their pressure against it. But it promises to be a costly victory for the big-time members of the labor hierarchy. The dubious logic of their position was apparent in all their arguments for exempting unions from the law which President George Meany of the AFL-CIO considers right for foundations and other private organizations.

The people behind the Fannin Amendment, notably the National Right to Work Committee, think they have given the labor hierarchy a proper scare and they are predicting that the "near-miss" of 1969 (they interpret it as that) will be transformed into the victory of 1971 or 1974. After all, they say, it was an incredible success merely to get the Fannin proposition to the floor for a debate that takes up some twenty pages of the Congressional Record. The Medicare and St. Lawrence Seaway issues, which eventually cleared Congress, didn't begin anywhere near as auspiciously.

To understand the glee of the Fannin supporters, one must look at what happened in the Senate before the final vote on the Amendment was taken. There were eight Senators—Smith of Maine, Sparkman, Allott, Spong, Cook, Long, Packwood and Talmadge—who signified their feeling that some limitation should be placed on the unions' right to spend their members' money on tax-exempt politicking. But they didn't want to go all the way with Fannin. Accordingly they lined up behind the Talmadge Amendment, a watered-down version of the Fannin Amendment. The Talmadge idea was to hit only at the union use of tax-exempt funds in federal elections. This would have allowed the unions to spend their members' money on State activity such as voter registration drives limited to getting out the union vote.

The Talmadge Amendment failed, and the eight who had championed it as a compromise then reversed their field and voted against the full Fannin proposition, which would have made no exceptions for union politicking with tax-exempt money of any kind. But if you add the eight Talmadge supporters to the twenty-seven who voted for the Fannin Amendment, it is apparent that thirty-five Senators are against letting the unions' COPE (or Committee on Political Education) ride high, wide and handsome in election years. And to the figure of thirty-five there must be added the four Senators—Goldwater, Dominick, Baker and Hruska—who were paired for the Fannin addition to the tax reform bill. When thirty-nine Senators show a willingness to risk the displeasure of the very powerful union lobby it is obvious that some kind of change in the political climate is already here.

It is significant that Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, a big beneficiary of union financial support, subsided into the background during the arguments over Fannin, Bayh, who had been so focal in charging Judge Haynsworth with "conflict of interest" in the fight over Supreme Court confirmation, let Senator Mondale of Minnesota carry the forensic ball for the unions. Mondale's voting record in the Senate gets a 100 per cent rating from the unions' COPE. During the give-and-take Mondale made the somewhat curious statement that he had "never received one dime as a campaign contribution." He went on to say, "I do not know anyone who has." Maybe he didn't get any union money personally, but the recording file clerk of the House lists donations of $25,583 to the District of Columbia Committee for Mondale from the Teamsters and other unions. Some twenty Senators are going into the 1970 election campaign year in dire need of COPE support. Human frailty being what it is, it would have been too much to ask of them to refrain from voting on the Fannin Amendment. But after 1970 some of them may be replaced by new Senators who will see things Fannin's way. Fannin will be back again with his proposition that it is wrong to use money politically that is collected from union shop members under compulsion. The Right to Work Committee even dares hope he will broaden his next bill to call for a prohibition on compulsory unionism in general.

Is surgery of the mastoid bone still performed and under what circumstances?

Mr. J. R. D., North Carolina

Dear Mr. D.: After the antibiotics and sulfa drugs were discovered and used extensively in ear infections, there was a marked reduction in the frequency of mastoid operations. Prior to this, infections of the middle ear extended into the mastoid bone and made surgery imperative and life-saving.

Such mastoid operations and their complications have virtually been eliminated by these miraculous drugs. Yet there are a great many other reasons why operations are still being performed on the mastoid.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Dec. 18, the 352nd day of 1969. There are 13 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1863, the 13th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was adopted, abolishing slavery.

On this date in 1787, New Jersey ratified the Constitution.

In 1799, George Washington was buried at Mount Vernon.

In 1923, the United States rejected a request by the Soviet Union for diplomatic recognition.

In 1928, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved the Kellogg-Briand anti-war treaty.

In 1935, Dr. Eduard Benes was elected president of Czechoslovakia.

In 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt named a committee to investigate the military disaster at Pearl Harbor 11 days earlier.

In 1963, hundreds of African students in Moscow rioted in Red Square, protesting against racial discrimination.

Ten years ago President Dwight D. Eisenhower, on an eleven-day tour, prepared to leave Tunisia on the cruiser Des Moines for Toulon, France, and a meeting with President De Gaulle in Paris, the next day.

Five years ago President Lyndon B. Johnson said the United States planned to build a new sea-level canal in Central America or Colombia.

One year ago Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam berated critics in the United States, saying he was on guard against "so-called friends."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Both my mother and sister had tubal pregnancies. What is the main reason for this and is there any hereditary tendency to it?

Mrs. E. A., Maine

Dear Mrs. A.: Tubal or ectopic pregnancy is one in which the female egg, fertilized by the male sperm, is caught and trapped in the tiny tube that leads to the womb.

The most common reason may be a narrowing of this Fallopian tube due to some previous infection or inflammation. A kinking or unusual curvature can prevent the passage of the fertilized egg into the uterus, its proper position.

There does not seem to be any hereditary tendency towards this condition. The likelihood is that coincidence played a greater role in your family.

Tubal pregnancies occur in about one out of 500 pregnancies and usually terminate about the third to fifth week.

All women should be under the care of a doctor from the very moment pregnancy is definitely established. In this way tubal pregnancy is recognized early and kept from developing complications.

Is surgery of the mastoid bone still performed and under what circumstances?

Mr. J. R. D., North Carolina

Dear Mr. D.: After the antibiotics and sulfa drugs were discovered and used extensively in ear infections, there was a marked reduction in the frequency of mastoid operations. Prior to this, infections of the middle ear extended into the mastoid bone and made surgery imperative and life-saving.

Such mastoid operations and their complications have virtually been eliminated by these miraculous drugs. Yet there are a great many other reasons why operations are still being performed on the mastoid.

Long-standing chronic discharging ears and perforations of the eardrums that are associated with deafness can, in many instances, be successfully helped by surgery. Repair of the eardrums with grafts and many other ingenious operations done under a microscope are performed on the mastoid bone in order to improve the hearing.

Today's mastoid surgery is just as common, but not for the same reasons as it was formerly done in children.

How early should treatment begin for a child born with club feet?

Mrs. G. N. Michigan

Dear Mrs. N.: Clubfeet are clearly recognized when the child is born and consequently correction can begin very early. Repositioning of the feet with plaster casts, begun early, is responsible for excellent results. Of course the doctor's judgment determines the exact age in infancy to apply a type of cast that will insure the best results. Delay serves only to make corrections more difficult.

Understanding, not punishment, is the way to help children who bite their nails.

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt
Central Press Writer

A University of Connecticut professor's research reveals that school children make heroes of explorers but not of teachers. Well, a teacher doesn't represent getting away from it all.

The study shows that school children make heroes of politicians. Education makes strange bedfellows.

School children seldom make heroes of artists. Not even if they're quick on the draw.

Columbus is a hero to school children. If it hadn't been for Columbus, who could play Indians?

George Washington is a hero to school children. He discovered a way to get out of picking cherries.

Washington gave his name to our national capital and his face to our dollar bill. The trouble is, the wrong one is getting smaller.

Musicians are seldom heroes to school children. Maybe they don't blow their own horns enough.

Fish Went Fast
KRISNAGAR, India (AP) — Nearly 2,000 people thronged to the police station here to buy up 760 pounds of fish confiscated from smugglers from East Pakistan. Police sold the fish at a fifth the normal price within minutes.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A partial solution to the growing financial distress of the performing arts may be achieved by adopting business methods, one of the nation's largest financial institutions has concluded.

Recognizing that "artists may rue the thought," the Chase Manhattan Bank suggests that while the arts have concentrated on performance quality they have not paid enough attention to box-office innovation.

It suggests that since attendees at performances are likely to be repeat customers, special inducements should be extended to attract first-time customers, "as on the airlines."

And, since weekday performances are far less heavily attended than weekend offerings, the bank asks: "Why not add weekend performances and cut those early in the week or lower weeknight and raise weekend prices?"

The popular assumption is that performing arts companies are in serious financial difficulties because of competition from radio and television and because wage and production costs have risen sharply, partly because of inflation.

To an extent, this appears to be true. A study of five symphony orchestras by McKinsey & Co., a management consulting firm, showed revenue from 1963-1964 to 1967-1968 rose 4 per cent, but costs jumped 59 per cent and deficits 97 per cent.

Spending for admissions to music, opera, dance and drama account for only two-thirds as much of the consumer budget: much of the money today goes to amateur rather than professional groups.

Commenting upon the limited audience size at the performing arts, the report suggested that greater efforts must be made to expand the size of audiences.

"The 20 million tickets sold to performances in 1963-1964, it is estimated, were bought by 5 million individuals, or 4 per cent of the adult population," the report stated, adding:

"A business which finds that a first customer becomes a repeat customer . . . reaches out with special inducements to attract first-time customers."

Even with better business methods, the report states, it is unlikely that the performing arts can be made self-sustaining. However, encouraging signs appear to be developing:

"Foundations are beginning to develop the arts' fund-raising capability and to support innovative programs. Universities are becoming increasingly hospitable to artists . . . and government—local, state and federal—is helping . . ."

Synopsis: Booby Bobby discovers that pigs can fly. He rides off to see a certain Prince who lives in a marvelous castle in the clouds. He asks the Prince for help.

CHAPTER 15 THE FLUTE

THE PRINCE told Booby Bobby that only the Troll himself could tell how to break the spell Booby Bobby had cast when he used the Troll's own magic.

"The Troll would never tell!" exclaimed Booby Bobby. "You can make him tell," said the Prince. "You have only to hang on to his back for 100 seconds."

"To hang on to his back I must catch him first."

"True," said the Prince. "And how will I do that?"

"You must think of a way," said the Prince. He picked up his flute and began to play! The sound was almost sweeter than one could bear.

Booby Bobby said, "if you would come and play your flute perhaps the Troll would stop to listen and I could jump on his back."

"I would never leave my castle!" exclaimed the Prince.

"It is the only way I can think of," sighed Booby Bobby. "You would only have to stay a little while."

"Hmmm," said the Prince

As the Prince played his flute, the Troll appeared.

thoughtfully. "And this Puppet Princess-is she very pretty?"

"Oh, very! Though of course she is a pomegranate right now."

"Hmmm," said the Prince again. "Well, I suppose there is no harm in my leaving here for a while. It has been a long time since I have seen a pretty princess-or pomegranate, for that matter. Come, let us be off."

The two flew off to Santa Land, Booby Bobby riding the fat little pig and the Prince riding a white, winged horse.

When they arrived they found Tweedleknives and Mrs. Claus and all the Santa Land workers gathered in Santa's house mourning for Santa.

"I have brought the Prince," Booby Bobby said. "We have a plan to catch the Troll and bring back Santa."

"You have many plans," said Tweedleknives gloomily. "But things have gone from bad to worse." He went off in a corner and would not be consoled.

Booby Bobby took the Prince to the Candy Shop and showed him the bowl of fruit.

"The apple is Santa Claus. The banana is the Ghost. And the pomegranate is the Puppet Princess."

"A very pretty bowl of fruit," said the Prince. "But I don't suppose they think so at all. Well, let us see what we can do. Remember, if the Troll comes and you get on his back, you must hang on for 100 seconds."

"And then what will happen?"

"His power will be gone." "I will hang on," promised Booby Bobby.

The Prince took out his flute and began to play. All the while he played he stared dreamily at the golden pomegranate. He played sweeter than he had ever played before and Booby Bobby, standing behind the door, stopped up his ears to keep from being himself beguiled.

Presently, he saw the doorknob turning and his heart pounded for he knew the Troll had come.

Slowly, silently, the door opened. The Troll stood there mesmerized by what he heard. He took a step into the room, and another step, and another. When he took the third step, Booby Bobby sprang on his back and gripped him by the hair.

The astonished Troll howled and quivered and shook with rage but Booby Bobby hung on. The Prince laid down his flute and counted softly.

"One, second, two seconds, three..."

Death-Dealing Drug Stolen From Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A safe containing a drug 5,000 to 8,000 times as potent as morphine and which could cause instant death if it touches human skin was stolen from Stanford Medical Center, authorities said Tuesday.

Five half-ounce glass vials of the crystalline drug M90-Ethor-thine were in the 300-pound safe, just over one foot square, when it was taken between Dec. 10 and Tuesday, the center reported.

Police urged whoever took the safe to leave it or the vials somewhere and then telephone police and tell them where to find it.

Authoritis declined to discuss any possible use of the drug or where it was developed.

The Glow Of Vitality From Chocolate Drinks

By ALICE DENHOFF

P-ZAZZ is a quality of dynamism that's hard to describe. It's a certain effervescent something of the run-of-the-mill, a top-of-the-world feeling. Basketball players — and cheerleader type girls — know the score when it comes to the inner glow of vitality. To play great, the player must feel great. Takes training coupled with enriched diet. So, try a P-zazz type drink on your favorite basketball game — whether players or on-lookers. Whip up something with flavor and a wealth of nutrition, for a plus.

The Glow Of Vitality From Chocolate Drinks

Basketball players — and cheerleader type girls — know the score when it comes to the inner glow of vitality. To play great, the player must feel great. Takes training coupled with enriched diet. P-ZAZZ PLUS

Crushed ice
1 1/2 cup water

3/4 cup quick chocolate-flavored mix
3/4 cup non-fat dry milk solids
1 egg white
Half-fill a blender container with crushed ice. Add remaining ingredients. Blend on high speed of blender until mixture is smooth and foamy. (Mixture may be thick with ice particles. Pour into 4 tall glasses.)
The foregoing is on the low calorie order. For those who don't mind taking on some extra calories in a good cause, here's a good one:
P-ZAZZ PLUS PLUS
1/4 cup quick chocolate-flavored mix

1 1/2 cup milk
1 egg, unbeat
1/2 pint vanilla ice cream
Combine all ingredients in blender container; blend until smooth and foamy, or use rotary beater and whip until blended. Fill 2 glasses and enjoy. You know what goes well with the p-zazz drinks, or indeed with coffee, tea, hot chocolate or just one supreme snacking? well, the answer is:

TOLL HOUSE OATMEAL COOKIES

3/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon each, salt and soda
1/2 cup soft butter or margarine
6 tablespoons each, granulated

sugar and brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon water
1 egg
1 cup uncooked rolled oats
16-ounce pkg. (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate bits
Sift together flour, soda and salt; set aside. Blend next 5 ingredients. Beat in egg. Add flour mixture; mix well. Stir in oats and chocolate morsels. Drop by rounded teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated 375°F. oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Recipe yield about 50 cookies — which should be enough for the gang for a while, anyway!

3 Aviation Greats Join Hall Of Fame

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Aviation pioneers Wiley Post, Donald W. Douglas and Grover Leoning were enshrined into the Aviation Hall of Fame here Wednesday night.

The ceremonies were held in conjunction with the 66th anniversary of the first flight by Dayton's famed Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, N.C. Orville and Wilbur Wright were the first inductees into the hall of fame in 1962.

During the ceremonies, Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force Chief of Staff, discussed the Wright Brothers' early contributions to aviation.

Leoning, 81, was the only inductee present for the program. Leoning, who built the pioneer "aeroboot" in 1913 and specialized in amphibious craft, has been called the "elder statesman of aircraft design."

Douglas, also still living, was represented at the ceremonies by his son, Donald Jr. Douglas, one of the early airplane builders, founded the Douglas Aircraft Corp.

Post, who made two round-the-world flights, was killed with comedian Will Rogers in a 1935 plane crash in Alaska. His widow attended Wednesday night's program.

A daylong series of event, including a wreath-laying service at the gravesites of the Wright brothers and a service at the Wright Memorial, preceded the enshrinement banquet.

Defense Contracts Boosted In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio firms received a total of $308.5 million in defense contracts during October, more than any other state, Development Director F. P. Neuen-schwander said Wednesday.

Largest contracts went to the Kaiser Jeep Co. of Toledo, $232.9 million; General Electric Co. at Evendale, $30 million, and Hercules Engines Co. of Canton, $37.4 million.

BCI HOSTS JUNIOR DEPUTIES — The Pickaway County Sheriff's Office sponsors a Junior Deputy Corps of 36 young men ranging in age from 11 to 15 years. On December 13th these Junior Deputies were taken to the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation near London, Ohio where crime fighting facilities were explained to them by BCI Agent Charles Bunyea. Junior Deputies receive a quasi military training which makes them an exceptionally well mannered and self disciplined group at meetings and on excursions. Organizations such as these are a proven deterrent to juvenile delinquency. The officers in charge of training the Junior Deputies are Pickaway County Deputy Sheriffs Bill Dountz (above far left) and Earl Kuhn (above far right).

3 Aviation Greats Join Hall Of Fame

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Aviation pioneers Wiley Post, Donald W. Douglas and Grover Leoning were enshrined into the Aviation Hall of Fame here Wednesday night.

The ceremonies were held in conjunction with the 66th anniversary of the first flight by Dayton's famed Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, N.C. Orville and Wilbur Wright were the first inductees into the hall of fame in 1962.

During the ceremonies, Gen. John D. Ryan, Air Force Chief of Staff, discussed the Wright Brothers' early contributions to aviation.

Leoning, 81, was the only inductee present for the program. Leoning, who built the pioneer "aeroboot" in 1913 and specialized in amphibious craft, has been called the "elder statesman of aircraft design."

Douglas, also still living, was represented at the ceremonies by his son, Donald Jr. Douglas, one of the early airplane builders, founded the Douglas Aircraft Corp.

Post, who made two round-the-world flights, was killed with comedian Will Rogers in a 1935 plane crash in Alaska. His widow attended Wednesday night's program.

A daylong series of event, including a wreath-laying service at the gravesites of the Wright brothers and a service at the Wright Memorial, preceded the enshrinement banquet.

Defense Contracts Boosted In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio firms received a total of $308.5 million in defense contracts during October, more than any other state, Development Director F. P. Neuen-schwander said Wednesday.

Largest contracts went to the Kaiser Jeep Co. of Toledo, $232.9 million; General Electric Co. at Evendale, $30 million, and Hercules Engines Co. of Canton, $37.4 million.

BCI HOSTS JUNIOR DEPUTIES — The Pickaway County Sheriff's Office sponsors a Junior Deputy Corps of 36 young men ranging in age from 11 to 15 years. On December 13th these Junior Deputies were taken to the Ohio Bureau of Criminal Identification and Investigation near London, Ohio where crime fighting facilities were explained to them by BCI Agent Charles Bunyca. Junior Deputies receive a quasi military training which makes them an exceptionally well mannered and self disciplined group at meetings and on excursions. Organizations such as these are a proven deterrent to juvenile delinquency. The officers in charge of training the Junior Deputies are Pickaway County Deputy Sheriffs Bill Dountz (above far left) and Earl Kuhn (above far right).

Owens - Illinois Honors Customer Of The Month

DRAWING — Owens-Illinois and Frigidaire division of General Motors cooperated in a customer of the month program at the Circleville plant. A drawing was held. Participating in the program, from the left, are: Howard Robins, director of purchases; Walter Collins, director of material control; Dick Evans, buyer, all of Frigidaire; William (Bill) Hall, production manager of the Circleville O-I plant; John Farthing, personnel director, local plant.

In a continuing effort to instill employees with a sense of personal pride in the product manufactured at Owens-Illinois, Frigidaire Division of General Motors was selected customer of the month in December.

The job of employee identification is doubly complex when the product manufactured — corrugated boxes — produced to carry someone else's goods to market.

But the customer-of-the-month program seems one way of making a complex problem somewhat simpler. Owens-Illinois devoted an entire month to display Frigidaire products in the plant in an effort to make employees more familiar and more quality conscious concerning an important customer's containers.

The display was set up in the plant as a reminder of the concentration on Frigidaire. To add more excitement to the month-long affair, three Frigidaire appliances, a washer, range and air conditioner, were given away to employees in a drawing held Dec. 9. A management group from Frigidaire visited the Owens-Illinois plant on the same day to make the drawing and tour the facility.

The highlight of the month-long affair was a cooking demonstration presented by Miss Virginia Stacy, Frigidaire home economist, to a Circleville ladies group and Owens-Illinois wives. Miss Stacy demonstrated quick and easy recipes with the gourmet touch. The presentation was well received and presented the ladies with some tips for those holiday meals.

"This is one opportunity we have of impressing on our people the needs of an important customer," Conrad Hunter, Owens-Illinois general manager says. "We like the partnership idea and could not have had a successful program without Frigidaire's cooperation."

Past customers of the month have been Sherwin-Williams, Capital City Product Division of Stokely - Van Camp, General Electric and Delco Moraine Division of General Motors.

Den 3 of Cub Scout Pack 52 was recognized for its goodwill projects during the regular meeting of the pack Tuesday at the Community United Methodist Church.

Den 3 made and distributed six vases of greenery to the nursing homes in Circleville. Den members also saved 924 Betty Crocker coupons for the Pickaway County Kidney Machine.

The meeting was opened with Mike Ramey leading the Pledge of Allegiance. The Webelos gave the grand hawl. Den 2 sang "Silent Night." Dens 1 and 3 exhibited projects.

Bobcat pins were handed out to the boys who earned them last month.

The next meeting will be Jan. 20 at the church.

Police Checking Bike, Meter Thefts

Circleville Police are investigating the breaking and looting of a city parking meter. A woman notified the City Police a man was prying on a parking meter with a bar. Police arrived to find the meter broken and both money and thief missing.

Bill Strawser, 207 E. Mill St. informed City Police someone had stolen a bike from his yard Tuesday night.

The bike was a three speed dark green color and police are investigating.

Highway Closed For Bridge Work

A bridge on State Route 762 over the Scioto River in Pickaway County has been closed for repair, according to information received from the Ohio Highway Department. The bridge is located east of Commercial Point, between Routes 164 and 23.

Ohio Highway Department Engineer James T. Smith explained that the 950 motorists using the bridge daily should detour the area by State Route 665 in Franklin County. The two lane truck bridge was struck by some unknown vehicle earlier this week. It is under investigation by the Highway Patrol.

CCAC Announces Christmas Program

The Circleville Community Action Council will present a short Christmas program 6 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in the Council Room of St. Paul AME Church, 424 S. Pickaway St.

A Christmas treat will follow a short program. Sally Jones, Dorothy Walker and Norma King are in charge of the program.

Nixon . . .

(Continued from Page 1) spending—such as $1 billion the Senate added Tuesday to the health and education appropriation—and revenue loss written into the tax bill that appeared to disturb Nixon most.

He has said he will veto the bill if it contains both a personal exemption increase from $600 to $800 and a 15 per cent boost in Social Security payments, as the Senate version does.

Although he did not spell it out, the combination he described would total $6.6 billion in lost revenues, which is more than the $5.9 billion budget surplus the Budget Bureau predicts for the fiscal year ending next June.

No one speaking for the administration has specifically predicted a deficit, but a member of the Federal Reserve Board, J. Dewey Daane, said last month a sizable one could occur if the income surtax isn't extended, the 7 per cent investment tax credit isn't repealed and spending goes over the $192.9 billion ceiling.

The surtax and investment credit repeal are in the tax reform bill.

In his letter, Nixon said consumer prices are firmly tied to government spending and consumer confidence to a belief the "government will maintain its commitment to a responsible fiscal policy."

Three hours after the letter was released, the House voted Nixon and the Federal Reserve Board the power to impose sweeping anti-inflationary controls over all forms of credit.

The bill, approved 239-136 on a near party-line vote, was contested bitterly by Republicans as a too-wide grant of power.

GOP Nearly . .

Though popular in the housing and finance industry, Lapin had clashed with Secretary of Housing George Romney on how FNMA should support the housing market. Lapin looks like the loser—so far. Nixon removed him on the legal grounds of "good cause"; Lapin has taken the case to court, claiming there was no cause.

The familiar abolish-the-job device was used last week to oust Kenneth Burns, a Texas Democrat who got a $25,000 job last December, a month after Nixon's election victory. Burns was solicitor of the Federal Maritime Commission.

Mrs. Helen Bentley, Nixon's choice for commission chairman, wiped out the job. Mrs. Bentley said she would not infringe on the rights of "a true civil servant" but insisted Burns was a political appointee.

Workers Resent Gift To Boss

DEAR ABBY: I'm just a poor working stiff (office job) with a big company, and I mean really BIG.

Today I received an inter-office memo informing me that all the employees were getting together to "BUY THE BOSS A BUICK."

Now, the boss needs somebody to buy him a Buick like I need another head. Furthermore, I think it's a cheap trick to put this way.

So what's a guy supposed to do? If I refuse, it's sure to get back to the boss, and you know what will happen to me.

If I go along with it (which is probably the only thing I can do) I will hate myself. Got any advice?

Plane Crash At Waverly Is Probed

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—Five people, including two top executives of a motel management firm, were killed Wednesday when a private plane smashed into the side of a hill in southern Pike County.

Witnesses said the two-engine Cessna appeared to have been having engine trouble before it crashed and burned in a sparsely populated area about 10 miles south of here.

There were no survivors.

Officials of Winegardner-Hammonds, Inc., of Cincinnati, a management firm for the Holiday Inn motel chain, said the plane was en route from Cincinnati to Parkersburg, W. Va. The group planned to visit a new motel that was opened recently in Marietta.

The victims were Glenda Barnes, 24, a secretary; Michael Gibson, 27, director of advertising and promotion for the firm, and Donald H. Martin, 35, national sales director of Cincinnati; the pilot, David E. Weidner, 42, of Mount Carmel, near Cincinnati; and Billy Hinson, 13, of Arlington, Tex., reportedly the son of a friend of Martin.

The plane exploded on impact according to witnesses. Parts of bodies were found scattered around the heavily wooded hillside. Pieces of the aircraft were found as far as 200 yards from the point of crash.

Civil aeronautics authorities were called in to investigate the crash.

Man, 'Playmate' Are Convicted In Drug Case

ALEXANDROUPOLIS, Greece (AP)—Gloria Root, Playboy magazine's December playmate, and a male companion are appealing their conviction on charges of smuggling hashish into Greece, U.S. Consul William Hamilton said today.

Miss Root, 21, was sentenced to 18 months in prison and Corbin Parker, 20, drew a five-year term. They were arrested Oct. 16 as they entered the country from Turkey and were tried Dec. 11. No date has been set for a hearing on the appeal.

Both are Chicagoans.

The police said a Turkish undercover agent in Istanbul tipped them that the pair would be carrying drugs. They said they found 38½ pounds of hashish in the back seat of Miss Root's Volkswagen. Parker testified at the trial that he planned to sell the drug in Paris for $700.

Workers Resent Gift To Boss

DEAR ABBY: I'm just a poor working stiff (office job) with a big company, and I mean really BIG.

Today I received an inter-office memo informing me that all the employees were getting together to "BUY THE BOSS A BUICK."

Now, the boss needs somebody to buy him a Buick like I need another head. Furthermore, I think it's a cheap trick to put this way.

So what's a guy supposed to do? If I refuse, it's sure to get back to the boss, and you know what will happen to me.

If I go along with it (which is probably the only thing I can do) I will hate myself. Got any advice?

Plane Crash At Waverly Is Probed

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP)—Five people, including two top executives of a motel management firm, were killed Wednesday when a private plane smashed into the side of a hill in southern Pike County.

Witnesses said the two-engine Cessna appeared to have been having engine trouble before it crashed and burned in a sparsely populated area about 10 miles south of here.

There were no survivors.

Officials of Winegardner-Hammonds, Inc., of Cincinnati, a management firm for the Holiday Inn motel chain, said the plane was en route from Cincinnati to Parkersburg, W. Va. The group planned to visit a new motel that was opened recently in Marietta.

"School for Sillies" by Jay Williams. Pictures by Friso Henstra. "School for Sillies" is a fairy tale in the grand manner. An arrogant king refuses to give his daughter in marriage until he finds someone who is wiser than he. The princess' lover, a wandering poet, then opens a school for sillies. He teaches the vain king that there is still a thing or two for him to learn. Jay Williams is the author of the delightful easy reader, "To Catch a Bird." Grades 4-6.

"The Bull in the Forest" by Peter Zachary Cohen. Drawings by Ruth Bornschlegel. Homeless all his life, a bull lives in the woods, foraging for food as best he can. He is accidentally shot by a hunter, and from this point on, the forest predators pursue him. This is an exciting nature story which shows man's carelessness in the wilds. It also demonstrates how concern for wild life can save the animals under difficult situations. Especially for boys grades 4-6.

"Talking Leaves, the story of Sequoyah" by Bernice Kohn, illustrated by Valli. Sequoyah was born around 1773, the son of a white man and a Cherokee princess. Though lame, he fought in the War of 1812, and there he watched white men read from papers, which he called "talking leaves." He was never taught even the rudiments of reading, but he observed enough to want a writing method for his people. After the war, he devised a syllabary — a sign for every syllable. Thus the Cherokee tribe had its own written language. He was honored by both the white and the red men. Our great redwood forests are called Sequoias, for the lame half-breed who gave the written word to his people. Grades 4-6.

"Nothing is Impossible, the story of Beatrix Potter" by Dorothy Aldis. "The Tale of Peter Rabbit" is, to most children, their introduction to literature. It has a central character, a problem, and a solution — the ingredients of any novel. Miss Potter's books as originally printed are very small, about four by five inches.

Her drawings are accurate, and are done in soft, soft shades. Today, after nearly a hundred years, they are among the most popular books in the children's department of the library. Now there is a biography of Miss Potter for boys and girls who like to read for themselves. Miss Aldis has written a charming story of Beatrix Potter and the real little tailor of Gloucester and the real Mrs. Tiggy-Winkle. This is one of the most entertaining children's biographies to come out in a long time. It is a visit to the world of a Victorian child, vivid and heart-warming. Grades 4-6.

South Viet Party Blasts Massacre

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's leading legal opposition group Wednesday condemned the alleged My Lai massacre as a "grisly killing" of civilians and blasted the Saigon government for its treatment of the incident.

Sen. Tran Van Don's National Salvation Front said it had established in a two-week investigation that "beyond any doubt there was mass killing of mostly women and children" at the coastal village on March 16, 1968.

While avoiding direct reference to the American troops accused of murdering more than 100 Vietnamese civilians, the statement said the Front "severely condemns the guilty criminals... although the massacre represents but an isolated case."

The group also accused the Saigon government of "declining its responsibility and guilt in the massacre" and said it was "extremely shocked." It said the government should institute without delay a policy of joint U.S.-South Vietnamese command over military activities to avoid such incidents.

Despite the numerous reports by American troops of the alleged massacre, the U.S. Army investigation under way, and the filing of Army charges against two soldiers President Nguyen Van Thieu's government has maintained that no massacre occurred. It said a small number of civilians were killed by artillery fire during an attack on Viet Cong in the village and that this was unavoidable.

The statement presumably was based on findings by Sen. Don, who led the joint Senate-House inquiry into the My Lai case in the past two weeks. Don, a former general and a leader of the 1963 coup that overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem, is regarded as President Thieu's leading critic and political rival.

Urge Longer Extension Of Surtax

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prestigious group of businessmen and educators has urged Congress to extend the income surtax six months longer than now planned as the financial cornerstone of an inflation-fighting federal budget surplus.

In one of the most outspoken statements yet, the program committee of the Committee for Economic Development said Tuesday inflation, despite some signs of responding to government restraints, is still "disturbingly rapid."

The key to curtailing the inflation, the CED's 18-member program committee said, is balancing federal spending and taxing "to yield a substantial budget surplus under conditions of high employment."

It suggested a surplus of $6 billion to $9 billion, but said the government should not hesitate to let it dwindle "if economic activity is really sagging" and money is needed to stimulate the economy.

In a sweeping economic view through mid-1971, the committee called for curtailment of the space program, sizable cuts in farm subsidies and deferral of new construction including highways.

It recommended any money made available by cuts in military spending if the withdrawal from Vietnam is stepped up, be "devoted to alleviating the problems of the cities, of race and of poverty."

The CED is a 200-member committee of leading businessmen and educators, most corporation heads and university presidents. In spite of its importance, CED's recommendation may have come too late to have any effect.

President Nixon has asked Congress to extend the surtax—now 10 per cent—at 5 per cent through June, but told a news conference last week, "I do not intend to recommend the continuation of the surtax beyond June 30."

However, as one CED source pointed out, Nixon pledged before his election to let the surtax expire last June but was forced by inflation to request its extension.

The CED committee suggested Congress tell the President to make a special review of federal financial needs in late 1970 and then recommend whether the surtax should be extended.

Without being specific, the committee statement said long-term changes in the nation's tax system should not lock in large revenue losses, and found fault

Armco Fights Air Pollution

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Armco Steel Corp. reported Wednesday to the Ohio Air Pollution Board that it will eliminate the last major source of air pollution at its Middletown works before Christmas of 1970.

John E. Barker, Armco's manager of air and water pollution control, told the board a $12 million control system will be completed late next year to remove the remaining red smoke from the firm's steel-making operations at Middletown.

He said more than 40 per cent of the red smoke was eliminated during the past summer when older, open hearth steel-making furnaces were closed permanently.

They were replaced by a modern basic oxygen furnace complex which Barker said, "is the most modern gas cleaning system in the world."

Barker said that during the last five years Armco has committed $74.5 million to control of air and water pollution, with about half of the money being spent in the company's Ohio operations.

with the planned tax reform bill for that reason.

"We believe that in the current inflationary setting the net impact of tax reform should not be such as to result in significant tax reduction," the statement said.

It added that proposals adopted by the House and the Senate Finance Committee—before they were expanded on the Senate floor—"would involve very substantial net revenue losses."

ELEGANT AND JUST A BIT WILD

It's cool and it's hot. Primitive and sleek. Savage Sophistication in a world of sometimes too tame cars. Outside: headlamps hidden in a wild new grille; sequential rear turn signals; a long, low, lean and sculptured look. A full-fledged, full grown road machine with sure-footed road manners and a serenely smooth stride.

General Motors Research Show Presented At Schools

"We have engineered in the United States the most progressive land on the face of the earth, but many challenging questions remain to be answered by scientists and engineers of the future."

Students of Logan Elm, Teays Valley and Circleville Junior High Schools were presented this message of opportunity when General Motors research-in-action stage show, "Previews of Progress," appeared Tuesday and Wednesday at their schools.

Designed to interest students in science and engineering careers, the program was presented in non-technical language by Previews lecturer, Harry Czubek Jr.

Highlight of the 40-minute program was the Moon Rover, a 15-inch model of the Surveyor Lunar Roving Vehicle which has been proposed by General Motors to the Jet Propulsion Laboratories. The Rover runs on sunlight and has eight

House Passes Mine Safety Bill, 333-12

WASHINGTON (AP) — Caught in a crossfire of threats, the House has decided that the chance of a nationwide coal mine shutdown outweighed the possibility of a presidential veto by approving a stiff new coal mine safety bill.

Passage came on a 333-12 vote Wednesday night after the House turned down a move to strip from the bill a new program of payments to miners disabled by lung disease.

Rep. John Erlenborn, R-Ill., saying he was authorized to speak for the administration, asserted President Nixon might veto the bill if it included the new compensation program.

But members from coal mining districts said every coal mine in the nation would be shut down before Christmas if the provision were left out of the bill.

An attempt by Erlenborn to have the provision stricken failed by 258 to 83.

That was the key vote on the compromise measure as 73 Republicans joined 185 Democrats in defying the veto threat. The Senate still has to act on the bill. Differing versions were approved by both chambers earlier, leading to the compromise.

Erlenborn said the administration is concerned about the compensation program's cost, which it estimates will run between $150 million and $385 million a year.

But Rep. John H. Dent, D-Pa., manager of the bill, said the cost would be only $40 million to $60 million. He said many ill and elderly miners wouldn't live to collect it very long.

Dent was the first to raise the prospect of a strike if the compensation feature was killed but other members from Pennsylvania and West Virginia quickly echoed him.

The lowest readings were in the southeastern counties and early this morning the mercury stood at 18 degrees in Marietta.

Meanwhile, in western Ohio, increasing clouds and southerly winds pushed temperatures into the upper 20s and low 30s.

Colder weather will spread over Ohio Friday and there will be snow flurries, especially near Lake Erie.

Dayton's Black Santa Claus Reports No Bad Incidents

By LARRY HEINERLING
Associated Press Writer
DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — "Go ahead," a mother said, prodding her hesitant daughter. "It's Santa Claus. Tell him you've been a good girl and give him a big hug."

Icy Glaze Hits Parts Of Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wind-blown rain and snow swept the Pacific Northwest today and freezing drizzle glazed portions of the Midwest.

Gale warnings were in effect from Northern California to Washington as a large storm system spun in place some 800 miles west of the Oregon coast.

Light rain fell from central California through Washington. Wind gusts up to 54 miles an hour buffeted Cape Blanco, Ore. Snow sifted onto the Northwestern interior.

Drizzle, freezing drizzle, snow and fog dominated an area from Oklahoma and Missouri into Indiana, Minnesota and Wisconsin. Streets and highways are coated with a thin film of ice in portions of Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Minnesota and Indiana.

Snow flurries lingered over the lower Great Lakes and the northern Appalachians.

Generally clear skies were the rule along the Eastern Seaboard, though temperatures remained cold. Slight warming seeped into the Southeast.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 5 below zero at Concord, N.J., to 70 at Corpus Christi Naval Air Station, Tex.

The occasion was typical of Christmas except this Santa was black.

At 63, Leonard Eggleston is philosophical about coming out of retirement to become perhaps the only Negro Santa Claus in Ohio.

A check of major stores in Columbus, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron and Toledo turned up none.

Once a factory worker here, Eggleston was hired last year to play Santa at an Elder-Beerman store which serves a predominantly black neighborhood.

White children and their parents come to see him, too, but Eggleston says race never has been a problem.

"I was amazed," he said. "They come sit on my lap. They kiss me and tell me what they want. It's nice to see how things are changing compared to years back. I guess there has to be a first time for everything."

James Welsh, a manager at the store, estimates more than 3,000 children have come to see Eggleston so far this year.

Two years ago, Welsh said, there were no inquiries about why there wasn't a black Santa at the store. "So," he said, "we called the city commissioner and asked him how we should go about it."

Welsh said he was asked: "If you were in the middle of Africa what kind of a Santa would you have?" So, said Welsh, Eggleston was hired "and it came out very well."

"I enjoy it fine," says Eggleston. "At first I thought I wouldn't like it, but it's more enjoyment this year. I talk to the kids, see what they want, tell them to write me letters, ask them how good they've been."

His wife enjoys being married to Santa too. "Everywhere we go," she said, "We're greeted with a ho ho ho."

Designed to interest students in science and engineering careers, the program was presented in non-technical language by Previews lecturer, Harry Czubek Jr.

Highlight of the 40-minute program was the Moon Rover, a 15-inch model of the Surveyor Lunar Roving Vehicle which has been proposed by General Motors to the Jet Propulsion Laboratories. The Rover runs on sunlight and has eight button-like solar cells on its hood which convert energy in sunlight into electricity. A 300-watt lamp, simulating the sun's rays, powered the vehicle across an undulating table top surface during the show.

Czubek emphasized that the Moon Rover demonstrates the potential of the continuing search for new ways to harness the tremendous energy of the sun for more efficient use.

Students also saw an alternate means of energy for lunar vehicles when the GM lecturers made three fuel cells which converted chemical energy into electricity. The small fuel cells, made with chemicals during the show in containers the size of paper cups, provided enough power to run the Moon Rover and operate a portable radio.

The fuel cell — a highly efficient energy conversion device — is a subject of continuing intensive research, Czubek said. He told students that GM has developed a full-size experimental vehicle that demonstrates that electric propulsion by fuel cells is technically feasible.

Two novel experiments involving "man-made" molecules indicated modern chemistry's contribution to progress. Synthetic rubber was manufactured in a bottle in just one minute and a foam plastic cake "baked" itself in only two minutes.

Five other demonstrations included a model of an automotive safety engineering testing device used to demonstrate the importance of wearing seat belts; an air platform, enabling loads of 1,000 pounds to be moved with fingertip ease and gyroscopic principles which are used in modern navigation systems for space vehicles, aircraft and ships.

A model of an impact sled, dramatized the importance of seat belt protection for vehicle occupants. A full-size sled has been in use at the GM proving grounds at Milford, Mich., since 1962 for research in vehicle safety and occupant protection.

The development and promising future of laser technology is outlined in a demonstration featuring a unique laser projection system which "translates" sounds into moving patterns of light.

Czubek is a member of the seven Previews teams now touring the United States, presenting the science stage show to junior and senior high schools.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hee Haw" returned to CBS Wednesday night with all the character and jokes that made the program a summer-season hit. The question, which only time can answer, is whether the barnyard humor that charmed the hot-weather audience bored by reruns will exert the same fascination at another season.

Most attractive aspect of the show is its music. The beat was infectious and the tunes attractive. There was even a song with off-beat lyrics, "Okie From Muskogee," sung by Merle Haggard—a pro-establishment song that condemned pot and advocated respect for the flag.

The viewer must react to the show's jokes in one of three ways. Take a sample one-liner: "People in the roofing business tend to get shingles." The viewer must find this (A) novel and funny, (B) corny and square or (C) so corny and square that it is funny.

At least, "Hee Haw" is honest. When the jokes are old and pretty bad, the jokesters are likely to be standing in the middle of a cornfield when they tell them.

Roy Clark, who is more interesting when he is playing the guitar than when clowning, and Buck Owens, who has an interesting singing style, are the stars of the show. They are surrounded by a large assortment of country-style comic and excellent country-western singers, including Haggard and Tammy Wynette.

The program has been called, imprecisely, a country-style "Laugh-In"—but it had what sounded like an enthusiastic studio audience laughing at its old old jokes.

Tiny Tim and his Miss Vicki were married, between two commercial breaks, during the last half hour of the "Tonight Show." It is doubtful that the ceremony will start a new fad or even stimulate a return of "Bride and Groom."

The ceremony itself, in spite of the advance exploitation and publicity, had a certain amount of dignity. But once it was over, the couple walked briskly a few feet to one side, into Johnny Carson's desk-and-sofa set. The bridegroom made a beeline for the seat of honor and mixed himself and his bride a glass of milk and honey. Then he read off a long list of plugs and credits covering everything from hairdos to honeymoon facilities.

The whole proceeding seemed awkward and more like a stunt than a wedding. Carson's usual appreciative audience seemed subdued through the whole show and the hour of preliminary comedy on stage was not as fast-moving as usual.

Most puzzling aspect of the ceremony came as the couple repeated after the minister some unfamiliar vows, including a pledge "not to be puffed up." Carson explained later that the bride and bridegroom themselves had done a little rewriting of the ceremony.

Say Anarchists Planted Bombs

Italian Police Continue Probe

ROME (AP) — Police in Milan and Rome charged nine members of a band of anarchists Wednesday night with setting the bombs that killed 14 persons and injured more than 100 last weekend. Their motive, the Milan police chief said, was "anarchy itself."

A 10th member of the band, 41-year-old railroad worker Giuseppe Pinelli, leaped to his death from the fourth floor of the Milan police headquarters during questioning early Tuesday.

Among those charged was a 36-year-old ballet dancer, Pietro Valpreda, known to other dancers as "the cobra." The eight others implicated in the case are young students or workers, including a 19-year-old German girl. The police said they either helped build the bombs or set them off.

The most devastating blast jarred the Banca Nazionale della Agricoltura in Milan Friday, killing 14 persons and injuring 90. Three smaller explosions went off in Rome at about the same time, injuring 17.

Valpreda, one of more than 150 known extremists rounded up for questioning, was taken into custody in Rome shortly after the bombings. A Milan taxi driver identified him, saying he drove him to the bank with a heavy bag shortly before the explosion. The driver said Valpreda told him to wait and came back a few minutes later without the bag.

The investigation of the bombings also turned up several caches of weapons kept by extremist groups. One was at Querceto, in central Italy, where police raided a Maoist group's headquarters and seized a submachine-gun, six Sten guns, six rifles, six pistols, nine shotgun, ammunition and a hand grenade.

Soviets Make Gains In Mideast

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet policy is making important gains in the huge, strategic area loosely described as the Middle East. That is shaping up as the main cockpit of East-West political conflict in the 1970s.

In showing its concern for the area's complaints the cautious but effective Soviet program utilizes economic-military aid, trade and propaganda.

The Russians industriously fan suspicions of the United States but seem to want to avoid any chance of provoking hot war or a showdown. The degree of peace they want in the Middle East may be subject to doubt; a stable peace could remove much of the reason for Arab cooperation with the Communist bloc.

A no-war-no-peace policy for the area would tie in with Soviet efforts toward lessening tensions in Europe and with Kremlin advocacy of collective security in Asia. The Russians probably can live in Europe and Asia with something like the status quo while they concentrate on a target which offers considerable promise.

This target is a volatile triangle stretching across the northern tier of Africa and east to Iran, southwest from there to Sudan, and northwest from there to Algeria. The area is home for about 140 million people, many living in backward areas under unstable rule.

At the core of the triangle is an apparently insoluble conflict which pits Arabs and their supporters against Israel, and tends to cast the United States as the chief foe of popular aspirations. American stock goes down steadily in lands where the United States has enormous economic and strategic interests.

Russian ambitions in the area, at least a century old, had led to establishment of Moscow power in the Mediterranean with access to the Persian Gulf and Indian Ocean.

Another aim now is to forge a ring of states dependent upon Moscow. The Russians do not need Middle East oil, but undoubtedly seek some authority over the flow of that oil to Europe.

The current thrust of Soviet propaganda, which seems to be bearing fruit, is to sow suspicion of U.S. intentions everywhere. Thus the Soviet press, echoing the leaders, pictures Washington proposals for a Middle East solution—which hardly made Israel happy—as an attempt to drive a wedge between Arab states at the Morocco summit conference opening Friday, and to prevent their "solidarity and unity of action."

The implication is that Washington is trying to appear reasonable only to weaken the resolve of Arab leaders to stand firmly behind the minimum demands of Gamal Abdel Nasser's Egypt and its Syrian ally.

The Russians profess to stand four-square behind Arab demands for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territory as a minimum demand for a settlement, but the Moscow watchword is caution.

Meanwhile, Moscow has made points by replacing for Nasser all the billion dollars worth of Soviet arms destroyed in the 1967 war, though it is generally believed to have avoided increasing the amounts. Egypt

Nixons To Fly To California

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon are expected to fly to their Southern California home the day after Christmas — barring a special session of Congress.

The Nixons would spend about 10 days at their home in San Clemente, if present plans hold.

Nixon, however, last week told Congress he will call them into special session on Dec. 26 if they do not act before then on pending appropriation bills. At the same time, Nixon said that if Congress members had to stay in Washington during the holidays, he would be here with them.

Say Anarchists Planted Bombs

Italian Police Continue Probe

ROME (AP) — Police in Milan and Rome charged nine members of a band of anarchists Wednesday night with setting the bombs that killed 14 persons and injured more than 100 last weekend. Their motive, the Milan police chief said, was "anarchy itself."

A 10th member of the band, 41-year-old railroad worker Giuseppe Pinelli, leaped to his death from the fourth floor of the Milan police headquarters during questioning early Tuesday.

Among those charged was a 36-year-old ballet dancer, Pietro Valpreda, known to other dancers as "the cobra." The eight others implicated in the case are young students or workers, including a 19-year-old German girl. The police said they either helped build the bombs or set them off.

The most devastating blast jarred the Banca Nazionale della Agricoltura in Milan Friday, killing 14 persons and injuring 90. Three smaller explosions went off in Rome at about the same time, injuring 17.

Valpreda, one of more than 150 known extremists rounded up for questioning, was taken into custody in Rome shortly after the bombings. A Milan taxi driver identified him, saying he drove him to the bank with a heavy bag shortly before the explosion. The driver said Valpreda told him to wait and came back a few minutes later without the bag.

The investigation of the bombings also turned up several caches of weapons kept by extremist groups. One was at Querceto, in central Italy, where police raided a Maoist group's headquarters and seized a submachine-gun, six Sten guns, six rifles, six pistols, nine shotguns, ammunition and a hand grenade.

Soviets Make Gains In Mideast

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet policy is making important gains in the huge, strategic area loosely described as the Middle East. That is shaping up as the main cockpit of East-West political conflict in the 1970s.

In showing its concern for the area's complaints the cautious but effective Soviet program utilizes economic-military aid, trade and propaganda.

The Russians industriously fan suspicions of the United States but seem to want to avoid any chance of provoking hot war or a showdown. The degree of peace they want in the Middle East may be subject to doubt; a stable peace could remove much of the reason for Arab cooperation with the Communist bloc.

A no-war-no-peace policy for the area would tie in with Soviet efforts toward lessening tensions in Europe and with Kremlin advocacy of collective security in Asia. The Russians probably can live in Europe and Asia with something like the status quo while they concentrate on a target which offers considerable promise.

This target is a volatile triangle stretching across the northern tier of Africa and east to Iran, southwest from there to Sudan, and northwest from there to Algeria. The area is home for about 140 million people, many living in backward areas under unstable rule.

At the core of the triangle is an apparently insoluble conflict which pits Arabs and their supporters against Israel, and tends to cast the United States as the chief foe of popular aspirations. American stock goes

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hee Haw" returned to CBS Wednesday night with all the characters and jokes that made the program a summer-season hit. The question, which only time can answer, is whether the barnyard humor that charmed the hot-weather audience bored by reruns will exert the same fascination at another season.

Most attractive aspect of the show is its music. The beat was infectious and the tunes attractive. There was even a song with off-beat lyrics, "Okie From Muskogee," sung by Merle Haggard—a pro-establishment song that condemned pot and advocated respect for the flag.

The viewer must react to the show's jokes in one of three ways. Take a sample one-liner: "People in the roofing business tend to get shingles." The viewer must find this (A) novel and funny, (B) corny and square or (C) so corny and square that it is funny.

At least, "Hee Haw" is honest. When the jokes are old and pretty bad, the jokesters are likely to be standing in the middle of a cornfield when they tell them.

Roy Clark, who is more interesting when he is playing the guitar than when clowning, and Buck Owens, who has an interesting singing style, are the stars of the show. They are surrounded by a large assortment of country-style comic and excellent country-western singers, including Haggard and Tammy Wynette.

The program has been called, imprecisely, a country-style "Laugh-In"—but it had what sounded like an enthusiastic studio audience laughing at its old old jokes.

Tiny Tim and his Miss Vicki were married, between two commercial breaks, during the last half hour of the "Tonight Show." It is doubtful that the ceremony will start a new fad or even stimulate a return of "Bride and Groom."

The ceremony itself, in spite of the advance exploitation and publicity, had a certain amount of dignity. But once it was over, the couple walked briskly a few feet to one side, into Johnny Carson's desk-and-sofa set. The bridegroom made a beeline for the seat of honor and mixed himself and his bride a glass of milk and honey. Then he read off a long list of plugs and credits covering everything from hairdoes to honeymoon facilities.

The whole proceeding seemed awkward and more like a stunt than a wedding. Carson's usual appreciative audience seemed subdued through the whole show and the hour of preliminary comedy on stage was not as fast-moving as usual.

Most puzzling aspect of the ceremony came as the couple repeated after the minister some unfamiliar vows, including a pledge "not to be puffed up." Carson explained later that the bride and bridegroom themselves had done a little rewriting of the ceremony.

UFO Office Closed, Scientist Says, Because It's Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Edward U. Condon, chief of a panel which recommended an end to the flying saucer hunt, says "there's no reason why the government should spend a lot of money checking up on lights in the sky."

Neither national security nor science were being served, the Air Force said in announcing an end Wednesday to 21-year-old project Blue Book, which kept voluminous files on reported sightings of unidentified flying objects.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were spent on Blue Book in addition to the $539,000 for the Condon panel's 18-month study.

The University of Colorado physicist, in a telephone interview from Boulder, Colo., said

Young Rips Army Judge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Sen. Stephen M. Young lashed out in several directions Wednesday in criticizing the government's handling of the alleged My Lai massacre case.

Young said the government had no jurisdiction over former soldiers and suggested that Defense Secretary Melvin Laird "should really read the Bill of Rights and Supreme Court decisions on the jurisdiction of military courts and cool it."

Young also characterized Lt. Col. Reid Kennedy, the military judge who will preside over the trial of Lt. William Calley, as "arrogant."

Calley has been charged with 109 murders in the alleged March 1968 army massacre at My Lai in South Vietnam.

Young termed claims that Calley couldn't receive a fair trial because of publicity as "spurious."

The Defense Department has said it is considering bringing charges against some nine soldiers and 15 ex-soldiers in connection with the case.

Filipino Youth Shot, Wounded

MANILA (AP) — The Manila Daily Bulletin said today that five witnesses testified a Filipino youth was outside Clark Air Base when an American airman shot and wounded him.

The paper said the father of 17-year-old Carlito Sevilla and four others testified that the youth was tending water buffalo when he was shot Dec. 11. They told the district attorney that the boy was shot outside the base, then loaded into a helicopter and carried back, the paper reported.

A spokesman for the American base north of Manila had said the young Filipino was caught trying to steal a television set. He was shot accidentally after he attacked Airman I.C. Charles E. Haugh, 22, of Greensboro, N.C., the spokesman said. The wounded youth is listed in fair condition.

Jury Acquits Columbus Policemen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Jury in U.S. District Court today found all defendants innocent of all counts in the police gambling conspiracy trial.

The jury reported to the court about 9:30 a.m., after having concluded two days of deliberations.

The jury of nine men and three women which heard the case against five policemen and a reputed numbers game racketeer had reported late Wednesday it could not reach a unanimous verdict.

The jury, which received the case at 9 a.m. Tuesday, deliberated for another hour Wednesday afternoon before recessing for the night.

On trial were Frank Baldassaro, an alleged numbers game chieftain in Columbus, and police Capt. Jerry G. Ryan and Robert C. Taylor, Lt. William Voorhis and Patrolmen Gary Roach and Robert Brodt.

They were charged in federal grand jury indictments with conspiring to permit the numbers game racket to flourish here. The policemen were accused of accepting payoffs from gamblers.

Conferees Get U.S. School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The southern led drive to curb federal school desegregation powers, headed off in the Senate, moves now into the give and take atmosphere of a Senate-House conference committee meeting behind closed doors.

The conferees must also square a controversy over campus disorder and a $4 billion difference between them. It's all part of the two versions of the appropriations bills passed for the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the Labor Department, and related agencies.

The House, when it passed the money bill last July, approved an amendment barring the use of any of the funds to force the closing of schools, the busing of students, or the assignment of pupils to a school against their parents' wishes.

But in the Senate Wednesday, the phrase "except as required by the Constitution" was added to the amendment by a 52-37 vote. Southerners protested the effect was to scuttle the amendment.

Republican Leader Hugh

Scott of Pennsylvania offered the qualifying language, but his GOP colleagues divided almost evenly on it. Twenty-one Republicans voted for it, and 19 against. The Democratic tally was 31 for and 18 against.

HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch had told senators adoption of the House-approved amendment could cripple the government's school desegregation efforts.

The Senate tabled, 60-28, an amendment by Sen. James B.

Allen, D-Ala., to put Congress in record in support of freedom-of-choice plans for school desegregation.

By a 49-43 vote, the Senate struck from the bill an amendment that would have authorized the HEW secretary to cut off federal funds from colleges that have had three or more outbreaks of campus violence and that failed to submit satisfactory plans for dealing with future disorders.

The amendment, authored by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., had won the approval of the Senate Appropriations Committee, but Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., made the motion to knock it out of the bill.

The bill as passed by the House took a different approach to the problem, providing for the denial of federal loans, scholarships or other financial aid to students involved in campus disorders.

Cotton said he was opposed to this, declaring the government was not in a position "to determine the guilt or innocence of individual students."

The money differences between the Senate and the House are no less striking. The total appropriation in the Senate bill is $21.4 billion compared to $17.5 billion approved by the House. President Nixon asked for $19.8 billion.

Ban On Red Teachers Nixed

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The faculty Academic Senate at the University of California's nine campuses has voted to throw out its own 1950 rule banning Communist party members from teaching posts.

In a statewide mail ballot, with about half the eligible faculty members voting, the Communist ban was disavowed by 2,487 votes to 1,139, it was announced Tuesday.

The result of the Academic Senate vote, which is advisory to the Board of Regents, will be communicated to them at their next meeting.

Despite the fierce words, top administration officials of the institution say they are convinced pressure by the black community will keep the lid on any renewal of major physical violence.

The tight focus of the BSU is on the college's new Black Studies Department, now accommodating 460 students, mostly black, under an all-black faculty of 12 part-time and six full-time instructors.

Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, president of the college, said in a news conference that campus black militants were carrying on a "reign of terror" among Negro faculty members in an attempt to take over the department.

Urban Whitaker, dean of undergraduate studies and acting dean of ethnic studies, said intimidation of faculty members has included smashing of car windows, slashing of tires, the beating of two white students, interceptions of mail and attempts at class disruption.

"The problem is not black versus white," he said. "It's over a difference of opinion among black students and black faculty over the purpose of the (Black Studies) program. That program has to be educational as opposed to revolutionary indoctrination."

Flying Saucer Probe Closed By Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force Wednesday officially closed Project Blue Book, the agency which for 21 years has been investigating unidentified flying objects.

Secretary of the Air Force Robert C. Seamans Jr. said continuation of the agency "cannot be justified either on the ground of national security or in the interest of science."

Closing of the office was suggested earlier this year in a report prepared by the University of Colorado and later endorsed by the National Academy of Sciences. That report, which cost the Pentagon $539,000 and involved an 18-month study of flying saucer reports, concluded that little if anything had resulted from investigations of UFOs over the past two decades.

The Colorado report, compiled under the direction of Dr. Edward U. Condon, asserted there was no justification for further extensive study of UFO sightings in the hope of scientific knowledge would be advanced.

General Strike Paralyzes Italy

ROME (AP) — One and a half million government workers went on a 24-hour strike Wednesday that stopped trains, disrupted communications and shut most elementary schools.

Urban transport workers and hospital anesthetists also walked out.

Government offices closed or operated with skeleton staffs. A routine cable failure cut numerous lines to the rest of Europe because no repairmen were on duty.

The government workers are seeking drastic reorganization of the civil service. The urban transport workers were protesting delay in reaching a new contract.

Outward Calm At SF State Hides Tense Undercurrent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A year later, an outward calm prevails on what was once the battlefield of San Francisco State College. But below the surface simmers a war of a different kind.

The undercurrent struggle, masked by tranquility and study, is the legacy of riotous events of last winter, when curses, bombs, rocks and police

Ban On Red Teachers Nixed

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The faculty Academic Senate at the University of California's nine campuses has voted to throw out its own 1950 rule banning Communist party members from teaching posts.

In a statewide mail ballot, with about half the eligible faculty members voting, the Communist ban was disavowed by 2,487 votes to 1,139, it was announced Tuesday.

The result of the Academic Senate vote, which is advisory to the Board of Regents, will be communicated to them at their next meeting.

billy clubs were the way of life on the 18,000-student campus.

At the storm center of contention is the Black Students Union, the same BSU which called the shots for both black and white militants in some four months of uproar last year.

Today, the BSU repeatedly and forcefully advertises its goals: "revolution... struggle... exposure of the inequalities of a dying America..."

Despite the fierce words, top administration officials of the institution say they are convinced pressure by the black community will keep the lid on any renewal of major physical violence.

While sharing this view, some top faculty leaders, however, believe the campus "is a volcan ready to blow up... seething beneath the surface."

The tight focus of the BSU is on the college's new Black Studies Department, now accommodating 460 students, mostly black, under an all-black faculty of 12 part-time and six full-time instructors.

Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, president of the college, said in a news conference that campus black militants were carrying on a "reign of terror" among Negro faculty members in an attempt to take over the department.

Urban Whitaker, dean of undergraduate studies and acting dean of ethnic studies, said intimidation of faculty members has included smashing of car windows, slashing of tires, the beating of two white students, interceptions of mail and attempts at class disruption.

"The problem is not black versus white," he said. "It's over a difference of opinion among black students and black faculty over the purpose of the (Black Studies) program. That program has to be educational as opposed to revolutionary indoctrination."

Kentucky Wesleyan Remains On Top In Small Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Panthers of Kentucky Wesleyan continued today as kingpins of the nation's small college basketball teams, but the latest Associated Press poll shows wholesale changes in the rest of the Top Twenty.

Kentucky Wesleyan, with a 4-1 record, received four first-place votes and 131 points, 20 points more than Ashland, 4-0, which got one first-place ballot advancing from third to second. Gannon, 4-0, fifth last week, moved to third with one first-place vote and 98 points.

Southwest Missouri State, 3-3, fell from second to fourth and Stephen F. Austin jumped from 13th to fifth. Southwest Missouri got one first place vote and Stephen F. Austin two.

Trinity, Tex., remained sixth; Indiana State, conqueror of Kentucky Wesleyan, moved from 10th to seventh; Eastern New Mexico, which received the other first-place vote, advanced from 12th to eighth; Nevada-Las Vegas jumped from 19th to ninth, and Youngstown fell from seventh to 10th.

American International, fourth last week, led off the Second Ten, followed by Howard Payne, Oglesby and Grambling, tied for 12; North Carolina A&T; Southwest Louisiana

Moorehead Steps Down As Grid Pilot

By GEORGE STRODE

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Upper Arlington High School will look around on its own staff first before picking a successor for Marv Moorehead, who stepped down Wednesday as coach of Ohio's three-time Class AA football champions.

Moorehead will remain an administrator at Upper Arlington although he didn't rule out a college coaching job in the future.

He frequently has been mentioned as a top candidate to replace Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, when he retires.

"I certainly would listen," Moorehead said if he was offered the Ohio State or another big college job.

"I need a new challenge," he said. "That challenge may be administratively in our own system, a college job or in business."

Moorehead said he would continue to serve as director of athletics, adult education and the city's summer recreation program at Upper Arlington.

Moorehead, 42, a Miami University graduate, has guided the Golden Bears to 29 straight wins and 58 victories in their last 59 games. His 15-year Upper Arlington record is 115-23-2.

Upper Arlington and Massillon are the only schools to finish first-ranked in The Associated Press Class AA football poll three straight years. Massillon did it seven seasons in a row. Upper Arlington has taken the last three titles.

West Virginia's freshman football team won its first three games then lost its finale by 9-7 to Penn State.

Vikings' Bud Grant Named Coach Of Year In NFL

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — If Harry "Bud" Grant had been in his own words, "Good enough" as a professional basketball player, he might not have ever gotten involved with professional football.

Bud Grant wasn't, at least in his own mind. So after two years in the National Basketball Association with the Minneapolis Lakers, he became a Philadelphia Eagle, later switched to a Canadian football, became a coach and came back to the National Football League three years ago.

Grant, now coach of the Minnesota Vikings, was named Coach of the Year in the NFL by an overwhelming vote of a panel for The Associated Press.

The former basketball player received 42 full votes to two for his nearest competitor, Tom Landry, coach of the Dallas Cowboys.

Receiving one ballot each were Vince Lombardi of Washington, Blanton Collier of Cleveland and George Allen of Los Angeles. One vote was split three ways among Grant, Landry and Allen.

After earning his fourth letter in football at Minnesota, Grant joined the Lakers because "I could play pro basketball in Minneapolis, which was my home, and my wife was pregnant, and besides pro football didn't pay very much in those days."

But after two years of sitting on the bench watching the great Laker quintet of that era, Grant decided to join the Eagles, who had drafted him No. 1 two years before.

He played for Philadelphia two years, earning All-Pro honors his first season as a defensive end and playing offensive end the second.

In 1954 he jumped to Canada to play for the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and in 1957 took over as head coach when Allie Sherman former New York Giants coach, left.

In 1967, Grant, then 40, took over as head coach of the Vikings, succeeding stormy Norm Van Brocklin.

The Minnesota players call Bud the "quiet man" but they say he is a "great coach."

Grant, when informed of being named Coach of the Year, said his selection is "an honor that belongs to the team and the coaches together."

Tigers, Vikings Do Battle At Jr. High Gym

The walls of the Circleville Junior High gym will be bulging Friday night when the Circleville Tigers play host to the Teays Valley Vikings.

Late comers will find standing room only for the battle between the neighborhood rivals but it should be worth the effort to see what promises to be a real barn burner.

Teays Valley comes into the fray with a 6-2 record on the season and will be out to make it 7-2.

The Vikings two losses came at the hands of a big West Jefferson team and the tough ball club from Grove City. Both of these teams did a good job of containing the Vikings' Dale Lambert which seems to be the key to a win over the Teays Valley squad.

ALTHOUGH Lambert seems to be the main cog in the Viking machine Coach Bob Hoover will floor a well coached team that does have good balance.

Bob Tucker, Ed McCord, Wayne Brown, Larry Dixon and John Glick give the Vikings a solid attack and anyone of them can come up with a big game. Coach Hoover can also depend on some good bench to help when needed.

One think you can be sure of you'll get plenty of thrills when you watch the Vikings in action.

Circleville goes into the battle with a 1-5 record on the season although this isn't a true picture

Brooks Robinson Leads In Fielding

BOSTON (AP) — Brooks Robinson broke one major league record and tied another this year in leading Baltimore's pennant-winning Orioles to domination of the American League fielding statistics.

The slick-fielding third baseman tied with Washington's Ken McMullen at .971 for the best average, becoming the only man in either league ever to lead at his position nine times. His previous titles came in 1960, 1961, 1962, 1963, 1964, 1966, 1967 and 1968.

OU Tops Northern Illinois, 84 - 72

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"This is the best club we have played," the Northern Illinois basketball coach said Wednesday night after his team dropped an 84-72 decision to nationally ranked Ohio University. "They're not awesome," Coach Tom Jorgensen said,

"but they don't lose their cool and they really work the boards."

Jorgensen, whose Northern team earlier this season met Ohio State and Notre Dame, said the Bobcats' zone press "just wore us down and we couldn't do anything about it."

Ohio Coach Jim Snyder went to the zone press after the Bobcats, ranked No. 10 in the latest Associated Press poll, had trailed the entire first half and were behind 35-32 at intermission.

OU then outscored Northern 19-6 in a five-minute spurt to go ahead by 12 points.

Northern's Cleveland Ivey had a game-high 26 points.

Ohio U. now has a 5-0 record, including triumphs over four Big Ten teams. Northern is 3-5.

In other games involving Ohio teams, Urbana outscored Calvary 137-124, Iona (N.Y.) whipped Baldwin-Wallace 69-59, Gannon trounced Cleveland State 101 - 75 and Central Michigan beat Akron 81-63.

Urbana, paced by Terry Anderson with 37 points and Harold Howe with 30, captured third place in the Kiwanis Classic at Spring Arbor, Mich.

Baldwin-Wallace fell 15 points behind Iona in the first half and never got closer than nine points thereafter. Dick Fletcher led the losers with 18 points.

Unbeaten Gannon, ranked third among small colleges in The AP poll, extended its win streak to 19 games at the expense of Cleveland State. Al Crisman pumped in 22 points for Gannon, while Kevin Lineburger led Cleveland State shooters with 15.

Lanham's probably the only college coach in the country who wears three hats at one time. He's head coach and athletic director at Rio Grande and president of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Conference, which his Redmen lead with a 4 - 0 record.

Rio Grande Has Big Basketball Season

By GEORGE STRODE

Associated Press Sports Writer

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (AP) — Rio Grande College, despite no home gym, is off to its greatest basketball start since the golden era of Bevo Francis.

The unbeaten Redmen, leading Ohio colleges with a 7-0 record, practice and play home games at Gallipolis High School, 12 miles from here.

"It's quite a burden for the boys," admits Coach Art Lanham. "We load them on a bus every night and practice until about 10."

Lanham and his Redmen, however, will dedicate an $800-000 campus gym Jan. 31 against Akron. "It sure will be a lot easier on all of us," the coach said. The new gym will have a 2,500-seat capacity.

The current Redmen aren't creating a furor like the legendary Francis did when he averaged 50.6 points in 1952-53 and 1953-54 before quitting school to barnstorm.

Rio Grande, which won 39 games in a row in Bevo's first year, was a one-man gang then. The Redmen now have scoring punch at every position and Lanham can dip five players deep on his bench with no problem.

"The big difference from Bevo's day is that we have five people averaging 13 points or better," Lanham said.

Jim Marshall is averaging 20.7 points, Bob Mabry 20.5, Al Martin and Harry Hairston 14 each and Roger Bentley 13. Marshall and Hairston are from Columbus, Mabry from Dayton, Bentley from Athens and Martin from Norcross, Ga.

Mabry, a 6-foot 5½, 210-pound senior, is the only player in history to lead National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics

Walnut Still Leading In County Loop

Walnut still leads the Pickaway County Junior High Basketball League as they defeated Jackson 46-39 Wednesday.

Other games played Wednesday found Ashville beating Pickaway 68-23 as Terry Lambert came up with 21 points for Ashville.

Saltcreek was a winner over Washington 67-33 as Jay Justice hooped 30 markers for Saltcreek.

Scioto defeated Monroe 58-41 and Hollingshead had 29 points for Scioto while Angles was the big man for Monroe with 19 markers.

JAY Brinker was the top gun for Walnut as he hit 22 counters for them while B. Eitel had 12 points for Jackson.

Walnut leads the league with a record of 5-0 followed by Saltcreek 4 - 1, Ashville, 4 - 1, Scioto 3-2, Pickaway 3-2, Monroe 1-4 and Jackson 0-5.

Bucks Beat Celtics; Win 124-106

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a typical Boston scoring streak—except that it was against the Celtics and not by them.

The Celtics were trailing Milwaukee 75-72 Wednesday night, when the Bucks outscored them 16-2 and went on to a 124-106 victory.

However, Boston stayed out of last place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division as Detroit lost to San Diego 114-107.

Baltimore outlasted Atlanta 138-133 and Seattle topped Cincinnati 117-104 in the other NBA games.

Lew Alcindor, Flynn Robinson and Jon McGlocklin, with four points each, sparked the Milwaukee streak that beat Boston. Alcindor finished with 29 points, Robinson 27 and McGlocklin 20. Henry Finkel scored 23 for the Celtics who had a three-game winning streak snapped.

San Diego kept Detroit in the Eastern Division cellar by sending the Pistons to their fourth straight loss as Jim Barnett scored seven of the Rockets' nine points in the last 2½ minutes. Barnett scored 21 points and Bernie Williams added 19 for San Diego. Jimmy Walker topped Detroit with 21.

One thing is assured the fans should get their monies worth at the Junior High gym on Friday night.

Circleville's reserves will take on the Teays Valley reserves in the preliminary game.

Circleville will be idle on Saturday but Teays Valley will travel to Miami Trace for a game with the Panthers.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Boston Red Sox outfielder Tony Conigliaro was named the 1969 winner Wednesday of the Hutch Award, edging Tom Seaver of the New York Mets in the closest vote in the award's five-year history.

The award by vote of sports writers and broadcasters across the nation goes to the player who "best exemplifies the fighting spirit and burning desire of the late Fred Hutchinson," a major league pitcher and manager who was felled by cancer.

Gulfstream's two $100,000 stakes, the Gulfstream Park Handicap and the Florida Derby, have been set for March 21 and 28, respectively.

OU Tops Northern Illinois, 84 - 72

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"This is the best club we have played," the Northern Illinois basketball coach said Wednesday night after his team dropped an 84-72 decision to nationally ranked Ohio University. "They're not awesome."

Coach Tom Jorgensen said, "but they don't lose their cool and they really work the boards."

Jorgensen, whose Northern team earlier this season met Ohio State and Notre Dame, said the Bobcats' zone press "just wore us down and we couldn't do anything about it."

Ohio Coach Jim Snyder went to the zone press after the Bobcats, ranked No. 10 in the latest Associated Press poll, had trailed the entire first half and were behind 35-32 at intermission.

OU then outscored Northern 19-6 in a five-minute spurt to go ahead by 12 points.

"We went to that (the press) to take the momentum away from them," Snyder said. "I think it did the job and destroyed what they had built up."

Craig Love got 14 of his 18 rebounds in the second half to inspire the OU drive. Love also led Bobcat scoring with 20 points.

Northern's Cleveland Ivey had a game-high 26 points.

Ohio U. now has a 5-0 record, including triumphs over four Big Ten teams. Northern is 3-5.

In other games involving Ohio teams, Urbana outscored Calvary 137-124, Iona (N.Y.) whipped Baldwin-Wallace 69-59, Gannon trounced Cleveland State 101-75 and Central Michigan beat Akron 81-63.

Unbeaten Gannon, ranked third among small colleges in The AP poll, extended its win streak to 19 games at the expense of Cleveland State. Al Crisman pumped in 22 points for Gannon, while Kevin Lineburger led Cleveland State shooters with 15.

Rio Grande Has Big Basketball Season

By GEORGE STRODE

Associated Press Sports Writer

RIO GRANDE, Ohio (AP) — Rio Grande College, despite no home gym, is off to its greatest basketball start since the golden era of Bevo Francis.

The unbeaten Redmen, leading Ohio colleges with a 7-0 record, practice and play home games at Gallipolis High School, 12 miles from here.

"It's quite a burden for the boys," admits Coach Art Lanham, "We load them on a bus every night and practice until about 10."

Lanham and his Redmen, however, will dedicate an $800,000 campus gym Jan. 31 against Akron. "It sure will be a lot easier on all of us," the coach said. The new gym will have a 2,500-seat capacity.

Mabry, a 6-foot 5½, 210-pound senior, is the only player in history to lead National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics rebounds for two straight seasons.

"He'll make it in the pros on his rebounding," Lanham said.

The New York Nets of the American Basketball Association mistakenly drafted Mabry as a junior. Phoenix and Milwaukee of the National Basketball Association are interested in him, too.

Lanham's probably the only college coach in the country who wears three hats at one time. He's head coach and athletic director at Rio Grande and president of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Conference, which his Redmen lead with a 4-0 record.

Bucks Beat Celtics; Win 124-106

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was a typical Boston scoring streak—except that it was against the Celtics and not by them.

The Celtics were trailing Milwaukee 75-72 Wednesday night, when the Bucks outscored them 16-2 and went on to a 124-106 victory.

However, Boston stayed out of last place in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division as Detroit lost to San Diego 114-107.

Baltimore outlasted Atlanta 138-133 and Seattle topped Cincinnati 117-104 in the other NBA games.

Lew Alcindor, Flynn Robinson and Jon McGlocklin, with four points each, sparked the Milwaukee streak that beat Boston. Alcindor finished with 29 points, Robinson 27 and McGlocklin 20. Henry Finkel scored 23 for the Celtics who had a three-game winning streak snapped.

San Diego kept Detroit in the Eastern Division cellar by sending the Pistons to their fourth straight loss as Jim Barnett scored seven of the Rockets' nine points in the last 2½ minutes. Barnett scored 21 points and Bernie Williams added 19 for San Diego. Jimmy Walker topped Detroit with 21.

Tony Conigliaro Wins Hutch Award

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Boston Red Sox outfielder Tony Conigliaro was named the 1969 winner Wednesday of the Hutch Award, edging Tom Seaver of the New York Mets in the closest vote in the award's five-year history.

The award by vote of sports writers and broadcasters across the nation goes to the player who "best exemplifies the fighting spirit and burning desire of the late Fred Hutchinson," a major league pitcher and manager who was felled by cancer.

Gulfstream's two $100,000 stakes, the Gulfstream Park Handicap and the Florida Derby, have been set for March 21 and 28, respectively.

WHERE IT'S A PLEASURE TO DO BUSINESS

Oakland, Lamonica Play 'Bombs Away Ball'

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The theory of operation that has made the Oakland Raiders one of the most successful organizations in the American Football League is built around shrouding operations in mystery, hopelessly creating a psychological edge by instilling doubts in the opposition.

As a member of that organization, quarterback Darryl Lamonica has been schooled in that theory. He also has destroyed it.

The Raiders still practice very much in secret and still operate behind a semi-blackout of information, but there is no mystery about what Lamonica is going to do on the field. The elements of the game plan always dissolve into a Bombs Away attitude.

Oakland's system, devised to exploit the pass, is the perfect complement for Lamonica, a persistent performer who speaks in clichés enough to know:

—The shortest route between two points is a straight line.
—If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

And so Lamonica throws deep, again and again. The results have been starling. Considering that the opposition is not battling the mystery of questioning what Lamonica is going to do, it is indeed a wonder that they have not been able to cut him off at the pass.

That they haven't is, of course, reflected in Lamonica's league-leading 34 touchdown passes and the fact that his two prime targets, Warren Wells and Fred Biletnikoff, ran 1-2 in touchdown passes during the regular season.

However, the Raiders, and Lamonica, were jolted when Wells suffered a shoulder separation in the season finale against Kansas City. It appears that he will be lost for the playoffs, depriving the club of a talented deep threat who averaged 26.8 yards a catch this season—the best in the league.

With Wells replaced by either Rod Sherman or Drew Bue, a rookie from Catawba for whom Lamonica has predicted stardom, the Raiders passing attack undoubtedly will suffer.

Still it is undoubtedly the bombs-away passing attack that the Raiders are expected to throw at Houston Sunday in one of the AFL's two playoff games, the winner moving on to meet the New York-Kansas City survivor in the championship game Jan. 4.

That Lamonica has been able to achieve what he has while tipping his plans is a tribute, however, not only to his own talents, and his persistence, but to the other elements of the offense and a defense that sees that he gets the ball time and time again.

Offensively, there is the power running of Hewitt Dixon and the breakaway threat of Charley Smith, Biletnikoff and Wells complemented by tight ends Billy Cannon and Roger Hagberg and there is the offensive line.

That line—with Bob Svihius and Harry Schuh at the tackles, Gene Upshaw and Jim Harvey at the guards and Jim Otto at center—have thrown a protective ring around Lamonica that not even Joe Namath gets from his Jet protectors.

The explosive offense is matched by a determined defense that has been accused, at times of using tactics just the other side of the rules. Used or not, it creates, like the mystique of the spitball in baseball, an atmosphere in which the opposition is always wary of it.

The No. 1 perpetrator of events precipitating the charge is mustachioed Ben Davidson, the towering 6-foot-7 defensive end with all those elbows. Ike Lassiter is on the other side with Tom Keating and Carlton Oats at tackle.

The linebackers are Dan Connors, Gus Otto and Chip Oliver and the defensive backs, Willie Brown and Nehemiah Wilson at the corners and Dave Grayson and George Atkinson at safety. Grayson is the key to the secondary, a quick-reacting veteran who always seems to be where the ball is—and very often intercepts it, and turns it over to Lamonica. Then Lamonica tries to do his thing.

Lamonica's thing is Oakland's strength. It also may be its only weakness. Somebody along the playoff route may yet be able to find a successful way to counter when Lamonica telegraphs his punches.

So far, however, all the knock-outs are on Lamonica's side of the ledger.

Next: Houston Oilers.

TO ARMS, MEN, FOR AFL PLAYOFFS—The passing game will be much in evidence in the AFL playoffs coming up, with Darryl Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders throwing against Pete Beathard of the Houston Oilers Sunday, December 21, in Oakland, and Joe Namath of the New York Jets winging 'em against Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs in New York on Saturday, December 20. Winners meet Sunday, January 4, for the AFL title.

Iba's Cagers Defeat Texas In 54-51 Game

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Henry Iba is getting ready to retire on his laurels ... and his laurels right now read 7-0.

Iba's 36th and final season at Oklahoma State—he turned 65 last August—wasn't supposed to be a howling success. After all, in the Big Eight, a league in which every other school had front-line players coming back and four teams returned all five starters, the Cowboys, with all their starters gone, figured to be in trouble.

But, as usual, Henry Iba has the prescription for victory, which is what you might expect from a coach whose pre-season record showed 753 victories against only 326 defeats, two Olympic championships, two national championships, 14 Missouri Valley titles and one Big Eight crown.

Iba came up with the right move at the right time again Wednesday night. The Cowboys had just seen a 12-point lead whittled to three by Texas, the Southwest Conference favorites, when the veteran coach, whose teams have been known for their disciplined style, ordered a slowdown with just over seven minutes to go.

It paid off with a 54-51 triumph, seventh of the season for the unbeaten Cowboys. The deliberate offense shook Sparky Grober and Paul Mullen loose for easy layups that iced the game.

The only team in "The Associated Press Top Ten" to see action was Ohio University and the unbeaten Bobcats rallied from an 18-9 deficit to beat Northern Illinois 84-72. Cleveland Ivey and Craig Love led the way with 26 and 20 points respectively.

Two members of the Second Ten were in action—against each other—and 19th-ranked Houston came away with a 91-76 victory over 11th-ranked Santa Clara. Both teams had been unbeaten previously.

Ollie Taylor paced the Cougars with 29 points, Melvin Hill and Jeff Hickman added 18 apiece and Dwight Davis scored 11 and blocked 10 shots in a head-to-head confrontation with Dennis Awrey. Awrey managed 21 points but Ralph Ogden was high for the losers with 23.

Columbia, another unbeaten, spotted Fordham the first two points in overtime, then reeled off 13 in a row to beat the Rams 80-69 and snap their home court winning streak at 25 games. Jim McMillian was high with 35 points.

North Carolina State made it five straight, defeating Auburn 76-69 behind sophomore Paul Coder's 31 points. Butch Zatezalo hit eight of 11 shots in the second half as Clemson held off Auburn 104-95.

Princeton turned back Navy 67-60 with Jeff Petrie and John Hummer splitting 20 points. It was Petrie's first appearance of the season after being sidelined with a back injury which he suffered playing pool.

In other top games, it was Missouri 81, Colorado State U. 55; Butler 81, Michigan State 60; DePaul 93, St. Mary's, Calif. 89; Wake Forest 53, East Carolina 52; Southwestern Louisiana 69, West Texas State 67.

Kentucky Wesleyan, the nation's No. 1 small college team, got by Evansville 80-74.

Pick Roman Gabriel Most Valued Player

NEW YORK (AP) — Roman Gabriel, the sturdy Los Angeles Rams' quarterback who reached his peak in 1968, has been voted the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League by a 48-man panel of writers and sportscasters for The Associated Press.

The 6-foot-4, 220-pound former North Carolina State passer led the Rams to the Coastal Division title with room to spare and was roaring toward an unbeaten season until upended by the Minnesota Vikings Dec. 7.

New York Rangers Tie Flyers, 2-2

By HAL BOCK

Things were getting drastic—so drastic, in fact, that goalies Ed Giacomin and Al Smith took things into their own hands.

The New York Rangers were trailing Philadelphia 2-1 with time running out Wednesday night when Giacomin's clearing pass led to Dave Balon's game-tying goal and a 2-2 National Hockey League deadlock with the Flyers.

Landry To Take A Chance On Brown In Playoff Tilt

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — You don't think of Tom Landry as the gambling type.

But the Dallas Cowboy head football coach is doing a bit of high rolling these days and he hopes it will pay off in victory over Cleveland Dec. 28 in the National Football League's Eastern Conference playoff.

Landry is taking a calculated risk that rugged rookie Otto

Brown of Prairie View A&M will shore up Dallas' cornerback problems once and for all.

Brown started his first NFL game last Saturday in a 27-10 victory over Baltimore and was spectacular. He played both cornerback and safety. Brown intercepted a pass and did what Landry called "a real professional job."

Landry plans to start Brown at right cornerback Sunday when the Washington Redskins and the NFL's leading passer, Sonny Jurgensen, come to town.

Landry was asked if starting a rookie cornerback isn't against his coaching doctrine.

"No more so than going with a rookie running back with a sore toe," Landry answered.

Of course, the rookie running back is Calvin Hill of Yale, one of the NFL's leading rushers even though he has missed two games with a painful jammed toe.

"I'll look with interest on how Brown handles himself against Jurgensen," Landry said. "Even in the dummy scrimmages Brown is knocking somebody down. He knows but one speed — full speed."

Landry's experiment could backfire. Jurgensen could burn Brown so bad he would have his confidence destroyed before the Cleveland game.

Landry, formerly a defensive back for the New York Giants, knows it is a chance he must take.

NO "MASSACRE" — S.Sgt. David Mitchell, 29, St. Francisville, La., says at Ft. Hood, Tex., that he saw nothing unusual at the Vietnam village of My Lai, site of an alleged "massacre" of civilians by U.S. forces. Mitchell is charged with 30 counts of assault with intent to commit murder there.

'Party Boat' Is Released

CINCINNATI (AP) — The party boat "Chaperone" was back at its mooring here today after it was released by Kentucky authorities in Covington Wednesday with the posting of $10,000 bond.

The boat was released Wednesday to Captain Frank Johnson by Kenton County Court after charges against him for selling liquor without a license were postponed to Jan. 7.

The boat was seized early Saturday morning by federal and state liquor authorities on the Ohio River. There were 300 men patrons aboard.

Mel Renfro Named

Tops On Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Renfro did double duty last Saturday against Baltimore. In an effort to shake up the Cowboys' defenders, Coach Tom Landry played Renfro at his normal free safety job for one half and moved him to a cornerback spot for the second half.

During the afternoon Renfro intercepted two more passes to run his season total to nine, high for the year in the National Football League. As a result, The Associated Press named Renfro the Defensive Player of the Week.

Food Production Up

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's annual production of food grains is expected to reach 1.29 million tons a year in the next three years according to B. R. Patel, India's agriculture secretary.

Last year 98 million tons were produced. The increase is expected to be brought about by improved farming methods and fertilizers, he said.
